DEFENSE STRATEGY IS HINTED IN CLASH

Aerial Observers Report Negus' Warriors Are Sighted; Encounters Are Thought Likely.

AT THE FRONT WITH THE ITALIAN NORTHERN ARMIES, OVERLOOKING MAKALE, Nov. 7.— Italy's central columns bivouaced on a mountain rim in easy sight of Makale, ready to push into and past that city in a dawn drive—with scattered battles likely.

Fascist field guns frowned down from the heights of Makale and nearby Dolo.

Messages carried by native runners through the heavy lines of advance detachments and scouting patrols told how scattered regulars of the Negus returning to Makale, had been received frigidly by the populace, most of them departing.

Strategy Hopes.

But their presence on the streets of the objective city caused the high staff of the Italian advance to take every precaution. At headquarters, officers explained yesterday's hand-to-hand encounter near Hausien, with casualties on both sides, meant the Ethiopians were placing most of their hope of success in filtering back into occupied territory.

Thus they could fall upon the Italians from the flank and if possible, from the rear.

Aerial observers also reported groups of the enemy marching behind Makale, and it was thought likely scattered encounters might take place as the fascist advance guard pushed on beyond Makale tomorrow.

(There were reports from Addis Ababa that an Ethiopian "death or glory" squadron had entrenched itself in Russian-built "pill boxes" north of Makale, ready to die in defense of the town. But a government spokesman there said the northern Ethiopian commanders were carrying out orders by slowly withdrawing, refusing to fight and "enticing" the enemy.)

The columns of General Ruggiero
Santini and General Alessandro Pizio-Biroli halted at noon on the high ridge overlooking Makale to allow their supply trains to catch up.

At dawn today they pushed to their present position in a quick march; at dawn tomorrow they expect to reach the town and beyond Makale.

Now the columns command a series of small valleys, leading directly down into the city.

On the right they were supported by the column of General Pietro Maravigna, coming down from Addis.
On the extreme left were the "mystery" Danakil forces of Colonel Mario Marchionni. These latter, officers said, have obtained their objective.

Today's advance along the 30-mile northern front broke a two-day pause enforced by torrential rains.

DUCE IMPRISONS RUMOR-MONGERS

Mussolini 'Cracks Down' on War Profiteers, Shopkeepers Made to Close.

ROME, Nov. 7.—(AP)—Fascist Italy struck swiftly today at war profiteers, speculators and those who circulate
"defeatist" rumors.

Many arrests were made at Genoa.
Six men were sentenced to five years imprisonment "on islands" in an effort to end speculation. Other merchants had their stores closed temporarily and lost their membership in the fascist party.

Among those arrested were foreign exchange dealers and persons suspected of speculating in foreign money and selling the lira below the official price. A coal dealer was held for cash.

Action against speculators, which will change the commercial map of Europe, by diverting it to the trade, was pressed.
Even athletes joined in.

Athletic boycott.
Italians, it was announced, will not compete in events in countries adopting sanctions. Four weight-lifters scheduled to appear in Paris decided not to go.

This, however, will not affect Italy's participation in the Olympics, since Germany is regarded as a "friendly" country and more athletes will be sent to the reich, Austria and Hungary.

Dressmakers at Turin decided even to use styles of sanctioned countries.
"Only Italian artists" will be used for designs, it was agreed.

Premier Mussolini approved a hunt for substitutes for goods not produced in Italy. He ordered the army parades to wear material made for underwear and clothing and learned the present production.

Ben Bernie Will Wed Dorothy Wesley Today

BALTIMORE, Nov. 7.—(UP)— Ben Bernie, the orchestra leader, said today he would be married "somewhere around here" tomorrow to Miss Dorothy Patricia Wesley, Miami, Fla., swimming expert. A wedding breakfast will be held in the morning at Sagamore farm, estate owned by Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt, Bernie added.

The orchestra leader obtained a divorce in Chicago September 20.

State Banks in 'Strong Position,' Supervisors Told at Convention

Dominating Position of 10,742 State Banking Institutions in Nation Revealed as National Association Opens Annual Three-Day Sessions Here.

The 10,742 state banks of the nation are in a "strong position," R. N.
Sims, of New Orleans, secretary-treasurer of the National Association of Supervisors of State Banks, said yesterday in his report at the opening session of the annual convention in the Henry Grady hotel.

"The preponderant volume of state bank deposits, as late as June 29, 1935, should have our national authorities that further banking legislation, pointed in the direction of our state banks, must be cautiously pursued so as to guard against injury to this great element of our financial structure," he said.

R. S. Hecht, president of the American Bankers' Association, addressed the convention on "The Banking Outlook." The 40 supervisors also heard addresses by Governor Talmadge, R.
E. Reichert, president of the association; Robert Strickland Jr., executive vice president of the Trust Company of Georgia; R. E. Gormley, superintendent of state banks in Georgia, and S. N. Schaefer, commissioner of banking in Wisconsin.

Mr. Sims said total resources of the state banks on June 29, 1935, were $2,322,000,000, or 64 per cent of total, and an average of $4,800,417 per bank, and total resources of the 1935 state member banks were $14,711,201, 000, or 36 per cent of total, and an average of $14,935,229 per bank, according to Mr. Sims' figures.

"These figures," said Mr. Sims, "show our banks to be in a strong position and emphasize the important part which the state banking institutions play in our great Federal Reserve system, through their voluntary membership."

There was on June 29 a total of 16,173 banks, of which 10,742 were state banks and 5,431 were national banks, with a total capital, surplus and undivided profits of $7,440,048, 625, total deposits of $51,438,229,
063 and total resources of $60,433, 222,450, according to the secretary's statement.

As compared with figures of June, 1934, the total capital, surplus and undivided profits of all banks showed an increase of $39,284,224; deposits increased $4,698,401,205 and total resources showed an increase of $3, 910,451,022.

Capital, surplus and undivided profits of the state banks were $4,496, 865,625, or 53 per cent in excess of the national banks, $2,943,783,000.

HURRICANE'S FURY TURNS ON FLORIDA

Gulf Coast Battens Down in Expectation of Return of Storm's Lash.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Nov. 7.— (AP)—Forewarned, the Florida gulf coast today awaited a tropical storm which churned across the Gulf of Mexico after striking the southern part of the state earlier in the week with death-dealing fury.

A weather bureau advisory said the hurricane winds which have harassed the state since Monday, when eight were killed on the eastern coast, were expected to strike again tonight east of Pensacola.

The coast guard stood by to lend a hand as the region made ready for the expected blow, moving fishing craft to safe anchorage in protected waters and boarding up waterfront property.

Highway engineers were sent from Tallahassee to Apalachicola to direct precautions against storm damage to a new $1,300,000 bridge across Apalachicola bay. The structure is scheduled for formal opening Monday.

The advisory said the storm, believed to have lost some of its force, was headed toward the coast east of Pensacola and probably would cross near Apalachicola, attended by gales and a very small area near the center.

Tides above normal were indicated from Cedar Keys to Pensacola and caution was advised in this area.

Storm warnings were up from Pensacola to Cedar Keys with southeast winds and northeast storm warnings west of Panama City to Pensacola.

There was little indication during the early afternoon along the Florida coast of a storm of an approaching storm. Barometers generally were high and winds had not developed to strong proportions.

At Panama City the barometer stood at 30.05 at noon, then started a slow fall. Apalachicola's barometer at the same hour stood at 30.04 with a nine-mile wind from the southeast.

Workers Strain at Wait for Tuesday Hour to Strike. Officials Silent.

cials and restless anxiety among WPA workers who await next Tuesday's zero hour before action is forced on their strike threats marked yesterday's developments in the labor dispute.

Major developments along all fronts yesterday were:

1. W. D. Hoffman, industry's respondent on the three-day WPA wage rate commission, declared wages being paid Atlanta workers, skilled and unskilled, are too meager to cope with the present cost of living and that Harry Hopkins, WPA administrator, should see that something is done quickly in Atlanta.

2. White collar workers of WPA, who have appealed for help from Congressman Robert H. Hargis, announced a mass meeting, to organize for next Monday evening at the Fulton county courthouse.

3. Reports that WPA officials are confident the 1,000 workers who voted for the strike at Monday night's meeting do not represent the majority opinion of the 15,000 workers in the Fulton-DeKalb district.

4. Statements by Jacob Baker, FERA executive at Washington, that he has not received the telegraphed ultimatum from Atlanta labor leaders, disputed by A. Steve Nance, president of the Georgia Federation of Labor, whose checks with the telegraph office show the telegram was delivered at 2:17 p. m., Wednesday.

Payment of $5 each to more than 1,000 persons who are being transferred from FERA to WPA, and for whom jobs cannot be found. Protests from recipients that no segregation of fices or sexes is arranged for mobs at the paymasters' windows.

The statement from Mr. Hoffman was accepted by labor leaders yesterday.

Kidnaping Is Feared Of 2-Year Baby Here

A possible kidnaping confronted police here last night when Mrs. E. L.
Turner, 418 Washington street, S. W., reported that a negro maid had disappeared with her 2-year-old daughter.

The child was with the maid, Mabel Harris, 22, when she went to visit a relative in Grady hospital Thursday morning, and neither have been seen since.

The child wore a blue dress, with overall, a red tan and white shoes.
Mrs. Turner said. The Harris woman asked Mrs. Turner's permission to visit the hospital and then left with the child, supposedly for the institution.

F. D. R. Heads Home To Confer With King

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—(UP)— President Roosevelt said good-bye to neighbors and friends in Hyde Park today and headed back to Washington, where a routine but heavy business program awaits his attention.

Mr. Roosevelt, scheduled to be at his White House desk Friday, plans to lose little time in opening discussions with Mackenzie King, New Canadian prime minister, who will be his week-end guest.

The two will resume conversations looking to a reciprocal trade agreement between this country and Canada. The negotiations began months ago.

Before leaving Hyde Park by motor Mr. Roosevelt dispatched a telegram of condolence to the widow of Billy Sunday. He was informed this morning of death of Sunday, famous evangelist.

Signalling furious fighting on the 1936 elections front, democratic and repub-paign funds.

This election's after-effect followed the same theme sounded by both G. O. P. and New Deal leaders in contending that the other side had come off second best when the vote casting in New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Kentucky was taken as a whole.

More than one political observer here listed the very energy of these counter claims as a sign of the best kind of political scrapping in the race is decided.

The formal statement-making was all but ended today. Neither side here rushed forward with written words on the unusually heavy plurality accorded A. B. Chandler, democrat, as victor in the Kentucky gubernatorial race.

At republican headquarters, however, a responsible official contended the New Deal could be stopped, and that, therefore, increased contributions to the G. O. P. cause might be expected.

Democratic leaders here plainly were heartened by the Kentucky returns. When Judge King Swepe, the Deal, was elected.

Dailey Tells Men 'Shoot To Kill' In War on Druid Hills Burglars

With an order from Chief Dailey to "shoot to kill," DeKalb county police yesterday declared war on marauders who have recently victimized Druid Hills residents.

In addition to instructing his men to "shoot quick and shoot to kill," Chief Dailey asked co-operation of residents in order to halt robberies and holdups in the section.

"We want the citizen himself to report any suspicious character about his premises and call us immediately," said the chief. "A police car will be sent at once.

"A man who holds you up at the point of a gun will kill you without blinking an eye and you can't afford to take chances with him."

Manned by fully-armed officers, two radio police cars have been patrolling the section day and night, the officers with orders to take no chances, but to fire upon anyone who moves to attack.

As Chief Dailey opened war upon bandits and burglars, DeKalb police yesterday identified a negro who was shot and killed Wednesday in a gun battle with officers.

The dead negro was identified through fingerprints as Charlie York, who, in 1927, according to police, was sentenced to 5 to 10 years for robbing the home of Mrs. E. Stewart, 68 Emory road.

York was slain by police when he made a move to fire upon officers who sought to arrest him following a chase through Druid Hills. Previously the negro had been surprised robbing the home of B. G. Fennell, 1001 Oxford road, according to police.

A master burglar key was found upon the slain negro, police said.

FLORIDA SEEKS BIDS ON $500,000 BUILDING

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Nov. 7.—(AP)—The state cabinet today authorized publication of advertisement for bids on approximately $500,000 of new building construction at the state hospital at Chattahoochee and the school for the deaf and blind at St. Augustine.

The bids are to be opened November 28.

MICHIGAN WOMAN DIES IN JONESBORO CRASH

Five Others Injured in Dixie Highway Collision of Car and Truck.

Mrs. B. M. Gates, of Grosse Pointe, Mich., was killed instantly yesterday morning and five sleeping passengers in her car were injured when the machine collided head-on with a truck on Dixie highway, three miles south of Jonesboro.

The five injured were brought to the Atlanta hospital, where their conditions were all reported as good. All the injured are from Detroit and Grosse Pointe. They are Mrs. Nettie Manning, mother of Mrs. Gates; Sharon Gates, 4, and Harold Milton Gates, 12; Miss Anne Dishart and Miss Hazel Maul.

The passenger car collided with a freight truck of the Atlanta-Florida Motor Line, driven, according to police, by John Dunson, Boulevard drive, Atlanta. Dunson escaped serious injury. Both cars were damaged badly.

and the Gates' machine plunged off the road and turned over in a ditch, police said.

In an accident early yesterday morning at Capitol avenue and Crumley street, C. J. Perkins, of 337 St. Paul avenue, S. E., suffered serious injuries when he was struck by a car driven, according to police, by T. J. Grogan, of 1822 Avon avenue, S. W., a deputy clerk at the municipal court.

Perkins was taken to Grady hospital, where it was reported he had suffered a possible fracture of the neck.

Grogan told police that Perkins, who was asleep, stopped at the intersection and then stepped directly into the path of his car. He said the accident was unavoidable. He was held on a technical charge of reckless driving.

FINAL TRIBUTE PAID TO CHARLES P. BYRD

With the Old Guard, of which he was a past commander, serving as an escort of honor, final tribute was paid at 11 o'clock yesterday morning to Charles P. Byrd, publisher, civic leader and printing firm executive. The Rev. Ellis A. Fuller and Rev. B. O. Flinn conducted the funeral services which were held at the Spring Hill chapel of H. M. Patterson & Son.

Mr. Byrd, who was 75, was the founder of the first printers' organization in Atlanta and served it several times as president. The C. P. Byrd Printing Company was one of the largest in the south. In failing health for several months, Mr. Byrd died Tuesday at his home, 145 North avenue, N. E.

Burial was in West View cemetery.

A Tempting New "Food Bit"

RICE AND CHEESE COCKTAIL BALLS

2 cups boiled Rice 1 cup nappy cheese mustard and horseradish. Roll in salted cooked Rice, to cover completely. For this it is best to use time or half the Rice so that the grains will adhere. Roll to make a compact ball. Fry in very hot deep fat (450 degrees F.) until golden brown. Serve hot as appetizers with cocktails.

Work the cheese into balls not over one-half inch in diameter. Spread lightly with mustard.

Enjoy new, tempting food combinations—new economy in meal planning! Rice extends the flavor of costlier foodstuffs! This helpful book, "RICE—200 Delicious Ways to Serve It" tells how—gives tested recipes. Mail coupon for free copy.

KELLOGG BOOSTS WAGES 12 PER CENT

New Scale Provides Minimum of $27 for 36-Hour Week.

BATTLE CREEK, Mich., Nov. 7. (AP)—W. K. Kellogg, the cereal manufacturer, announced an average 12.5 per cent wage increase for all men employees today and declared that the six-hour day, in which his company pioneered, seems to be the best solution of the unemployment problem.

He said the six-hour day, inaugurated in the Kellogg plant five years ago to spread employment, has been adopted as a permanent policy. The new wage scale, Kellogg said, is the highest in the company's history and provides a minimum of $27 for a 36-hour week.

MRS. ROOSEVELT'S TIP JAILS SEVEN 'LEGGERS

PINE, Mo., Nov. 7.—(AP)—You couldn't buy a drink of bootleg whiskey anywhere in Ripley county tonight—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt saw to that.

Stumped in an attempt to locate where their menfolk got their liquor, the wives and sweethearts of this small Ozark community recently wrote to "Mrs. F. D. Roosevelt, White House, Washington," and explained their predicament.

Mrs. Roosevelt promptly turned the letter over to the Revenue Department, and tonight two Missouri jails held seven possible answers to the question that baffled feminine curiosity here.

At Poplar Bluff, Clayton Arnold and John Duszka were held on federal charges of possessing untaxed liquor. Five others—Frank and Wilson Arnold, Bud Driver, Pete Neballe and Sam McGee—were held on similar charges in the county jail at Donihagan.

The men were arrested in three "clean up" raids by revenue agents and deputy sheriffs.

20-YEAR TERM GIVEN IN DYNAMITE KILLING

JACKSBORO, Tenn., Nov. 7.—(AP) A criminal court jury today convicted William Righetti, 60, of second-degree murder for the death of Mrs. Prude Rutherford, 37, who was killed in the dynamiting of Righetti's restaurant building at LaFollette in September. He was given a 20-year prison sentence.

Byron Gunn, Irwin Johnson and Pete Henegar, also tried with Righetti on murder charges, were acquitted.

Sylvester L. Bushong, 78, of Findlay, Ohio, missed his first day of work in 13 years at a newsstand when he fell from a ladder in the store and fractured his hip.

DOUBLE YOUR MONEY BACK

If you do not agree that Northern Tissue and Gauze are the finest bathroom papers you have ever used!

TEST Northern Tissue, or Gauze, in your bathroom. (Northern Tissue is pure white. Gauze is designed for those who prefer a cream-colored tissue at slightly lower cost.)

If you do not agree that Northern Tissue, or Gauze is the finest bathroom paper you have ever used, return the unused portion of your purchase to the Northern Paper Mills, Green Bay, Wisconsin, along with a note telling the name of your dealer and the amount you paid for the rolls. You will receive double the amount you paid—plus postage. This applies to a trial purchase of any quantity up to and including 4 rolls of either Northern Tissue or Gauze.

Offer expires December 15, 1935.

SPLINTERS SPELL DANGER

Tests in the laboratories of John Arthur Wilson, Inc., on 1138 brands of toilet tissue proved that 1014 brands contained splinters...tiny, irritating particles of ground-up wood...to protect your family—especially the children—from the dangers of splintery tissues, simply make certain that you always get

Northern Tissue, or Gauze. Both are absolutely guaranteed 100% free from splinters. They are pure cellulose, as white and as safe to use as the finest absorbent cotton. Every roll is tissue-wrapped for cleanliness...every sheet is "Linen-ized" for even greater softness. And—most important—

THERE ARE NO SPLINTERS IN NORTHERN TISSUE OR GAUZE!

FIVE FRENCH AIRMEN DIE IN BOMBING PLANE

MONTPELLIER, France, Nov. 7. (AP)—A big tri-motored army bombing plane crashed today in a forced landing near Montnaud, instantly killing its five occupants. The dead were an officer and four non-commissioned officers. It was reported the plane overturned in landing.

GENERAL ELECTRIC SEEKS TECH MEN

Company Representative Here to Select Employees From Senior Class.

L. H. Means, personal representative of the General Electric Company yesterday interviewed the seniors of the electrical and mechanical engineering departments of Georgia Tech for the purpose of selecting four or five to fill positions in the company's plants after graduation next spring.

Mr. Means said the men chosen would be given a three-year training course covering all branches of the work at the end of which time they will be put in a specialized field. During this course they will be paid $125 a month.

Up to 1930 General Electric had taken Tech men regularly for 25 years. In 1929 the company put 15 electrical engineers to work, but in 1931 the depression cut this number and until last year there was only one member of the senior electrical engineers to get a position.

The number taken this year is expected to be the largest since 1929. The selections will be announced in March.

Mill Pays Dividend.

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio, Nov. 7.—(AP)—The American Rolling Mill Company reported net income of $3,011,140 for the first nine months of 1935 today. Net earnings were $1.71 a share on common stock, after deduction of preferred dividends.

THREE MEALS A DAY

BY SALLY SAVER.

Around the steaming fowl, its golden sides kept glossy with its own rich juice, revolve all the other delectable dishes that are part of chicken dinners which are justly considered among the finest served in America. So much of the success of these festive meals depends upon the bird, that it must be cooked to develop to the utmost the tempting goodness of poultry meat.

Whether the bird be the popular roasting chicken or a regal turkey, a modest duck or a rich goose, the first step in assuring ultimate satisfaction is its selection. Meaty breast and thighs and clean smooth skin are the identifying marks of good poultry. To determine the size of the bird to be purchased, it is customary to allow from one-half to three-fourths pound of poultry for each person to be served. This means that a roasting chicken weighing four pounds when purchased will, when stuffed and roasted, serve from six to eight people.

Roast Chicken With Stuffing.
One roasting chicken, stuffing, savory fat or pure olive oil, salt, pepper, flour.
Wash, singe and draw the fowl, rub it with salt and pepper, inside and out, and stuff the fowl. (Any stuffing may be used. Bread stuffing, chestnut stuffing and celery stuffing are particularly good.) Truss and tie the fowl. Grease it well with fat or olive oil, dredge with flour and place in a roasting pan in hot oven (450 degrees Fahrenheit), to sear quickly so that its juices may not escape during the roasting. After 20 or 25 minutes, when well seared, cover the pan, lessen the heat to 375 degrees Fahrenheit and cook until the breast is tender. If cooked in an open pan, as soon as the fowl has been nicely browned, baste well, using 1 cup warm water, 1-2 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce and 1 tablespoon butter, repeating the basting frequently. Allow about 20 minutes to a pound for roasting. Serve with giblet gravy.

Fried Chicken.
Cut each chicken in six or eight pieces, roll it in seasoned flour and pan broil it in one-third cup of butter, heated to bubbling in a frying pan, until it is well browned on all sides. Then, add a small amount of water, about one-fourth to one cup and cover tightly to cook slowly until tender 30 to 45 minutes. When the chicken is done, the water is evaporated and the chicken is cooked to a crispy golden brown. About one and one-half teaspoons of salt and pepper if desired, is used. It is delicious served with pan gravy made with milk.

Pan-Baked Chicken.
Have the chicken cut into small pieces and dip each piece into melted butter, then in seasoned flour and place in a shallow baking pan. Bake uncovered in a hot oven (425 degrees Fahrenheit) to a smooth even brown, turning at intervals to brown all sides. Pour in one-half cup water, cover and bake until tender 50 to 60 minutes in all.

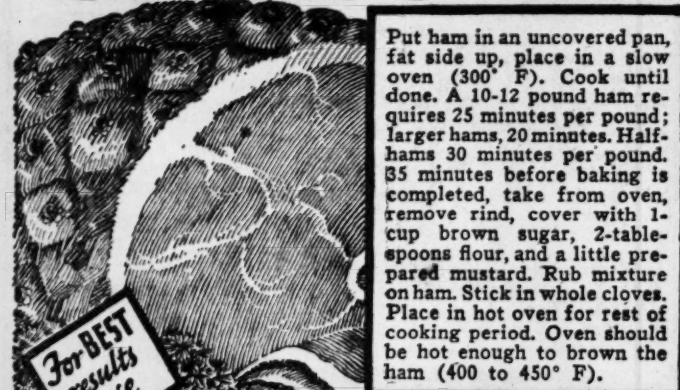

Country Style Chicken.
Soak broilers first in milk, then roll in seasoned flour, then brown in butter and slowly cook in the oven until tender and serve with a sauce of pure cream, cooked with the dippings in a cream, or with the dippings in a cream. You can serve with your chicken piping hot corn sticks or biscuits and fresh butter, creamy mashed potatoes in pepper sauce, buttered green peas, watercress salad with French dressing, tender and feathery light spiced gingerbread with tart apple sauce and milk.

Baked Apples.
The old favorite baked apples are good to serve for everyday meals and for guests. They may be tender, fat and flavorful, or they may be tough and tasteless. That all depends on the kind of apples you select, and the way you cook them.
The apples should not be baked in too hot an oven, lest the skins scorch or become tough. A temperature between 300 and 400 degrees Fahrenheit is satisfactory. Often a pan of baked apples is prepared at the same time as an oven dinner consisting of roast meat, scalloped potatoes, baked beans or carrots and a bread pudding. Other times, a pan of apples may be baked together with a custard which requires a much slower oven, or 275 degrees Fahrenheit. A small roast or Swiss steak, baked at 400 degrees Fahrenheit, together with baked apples makes a fine hot dinner on a cold day. Apples do not bake well in the same oven as pastry, and they should not be put in the oven with cake because they give off steam, and make the atmosphere rather moist which is not desirable for a cake, pastry or bread.

Stuffed Baked Apples.
1 cup chopped or sliced dates; 1 cup seeded or seedless raisins; 1 cup quartered marshmallows; few grains salt; cored apples.
Cut the marshmallows in quarters, with scissors dipped in water. Mix them with the dried fruits. Add chopped nuts if desired, and the few grains of salt. Stuff cored apples with this mixture, and arrange them in a buttered casserole. Cover and bake until the apples are tender.

Puffed Apples.
Bake apples as usual, with a stuffing of fruits or marshmallows, and when they are tender, stuff a marshmallow into each cavity, or lay it on top of the apple. Brown quickly until puffy, and serve warm. Such apples are luscious without the customary cream and sugar.
Everyone knows the conventional way of preparing apples for the oven. Why not try something different next time? For instance, remove strips of the apple peeling, from stem to blossom end, and arrange them in a buttered casserole. Cover and bake until the apples are tender. Four of such strips removed make the apple appear extremely attractive. Another idea is to remove a band of the peeling from around the center of the apple or two such bands. For variety, try trimming the peel from one or both ends of the apple around the stem from which the core was removed. The apple may be thoroughly pricked with a fork in order to help it retain its shape during baking.
Apples will lose their shape entirely if the oven is too hot, if they are

Baked Ham

Put ham in an uncovered pan, fat side up, place in a slow oven (300° F). Cook until done. A 10-12 pound ham requires 25 minutes per pound; larger hams, 20 minutes. Half-hams 30 minutes per pound. 35 minutes before baking is completed, take from oven, remove rind, cover with 1-cup brown sugar, 2-tablespoons flour, and a little prepared mustard. Rub mixture on ham. Stick in whole cloves. Place in hot oven for rest of cooking period. Oven should be hot enough to brown the ham (400 to 450° F).

baked too long, or if the wrong kind of apple is selected. Some apples simply are not good for baking; in that case, peel them entirely, cut in slices, arrange in a baking dish with alternate layers of sliced marshmallows and bake covered.
Sauces for Apples.
Core apples, remove the skin if desired, and slice thickly. Sauté or fry in a small amount of fat, in butter or other shortening, until the apples are tender and delicately browned. Remove from the skillet, top with marshmallows, brown quickly beneath gas flame or heated coils of the electric range and serve hot. These apple rings make a delightful garnish for a roast or pork or a platter of crisp brown sausages, or crisp bacon.
Sausage-Filled Apples.
Stuff apple cavities with well-seasoned sausage meat, arrange in a deep dish and bake as usual.

STRANGE DISCOVERIES TO BE TOLD BY BYRD
In the antarctic microscopic life teems in water melted from ice that has been frozen there for thousands of years, Admiral Richard E. Byrd discovered on his last expedition. Many such interesting discoveries he will describe when he lectures in the Fox theater next Monday.
He found, for instance, that beds of coal lie beneath the ice and snow within 180 miles of the south pole; that under glaciers lie supplies of useful ores, such as copper, and that new lichens and mosses abound in the nunataks of Antarctica, when snow recedes from the rocks. He also found that weather at the south pole affects the entire southern hemisphere and that many birds must fly as far as 100 miles to find food for their young for one day.
About 9,000 feet of motion picture film will be used to illustrate the admiral's lecture. He will come here under the auspices of the Business and Professional Women's Clubs. Tickets for both the afternoon and night performances are on sale at Davidson-Paxon's, Rich's, Marshall & Reynolds and at the headquarters of the club in the Grand Theater building.

SUTTON CALLED BACK IN SCHOOL BOARD ROW
William A. Sutton, superintendent of Atlanta public schools, will cut his vacation short to come back to Atlanta and attempt to reconcile warring board factions over start of the $500,000 school improvement program, it was announced yesterday.
He will arrive in Atlanta in time for the meeting of the Board of Education, slated for Tuesday afternoon. In the interim no progress was reported in the compromise move, launched several days ago with a view of expediting start on the projects. The board controversy centers around a move to divert $50,000 dedicated to Murphy and Maddox Junior High schools for erection of permanent buildings there to pay for architectural services on a construction program already sanctioned by WPA.

2 Drowned Under Ice.
SPOKANE, Wash., Nov. 7.—(AP)—A gaping hole in the ice of Hangman creek marked the death trap today of a farmer boy and his seven-year-old sister, who apparently tried to save him. The victims, Raymond McDonald, 12, and Wilma, drowned after breaking through the two-inch thick ice while sledding late yesterday.

"Tell World Atlanta Is Out of Depression," Says Arkwright.

Atlanta is preparing to notify the nation by the success of the Community Chest campaign that it is definitely out of the depression and ready to move on to bigger accomplishments, Preston S. Arkwright, president of the Georgia Power Company, said yesterday.

Mr. Arkwright called on Atlanta business firms to do their part in reaching the goal of the Chest drive, declaring it would be the biggest thing that could happen for the city. The statement was made as Julian V. Boehm, general campaign chairman, announced the power company had pledged $12,000 to the Chest, in addition to the individual gifts of its employees and officers.

"The gift is a heartening indication that Atlanta business enterprises are supporting the Chest in its appeal for the needy," Mr. Boehm said. Mr. Arkwright's statement was addressed to the business firms of Atlanta. He said:

"From a strictly business standpoint I don't know of anything that would do more good than to make a big success of the Community Chest campaign this year. It would hearten and encourage the unfortunate people dependent on the Chest. But it would do far more than that. It would give Atlanta the finest kind of advertising and it would hearten and encourage all of us because it would demonstrate that Atlanta is definitely out of the recent slump and is again the city that tackles big jobs and puts them over."

"From a strictly business standpoint also businessmen and business concerns have every reason to support the Chest liberally. I have no right or authority to give away my company's money. Neither does any other businessman have the right to give away his company's money. We can only make donations when we have a business justification for them and my firm's conviction has always been there is a good, sound business reason why business concerns should support the Community Chest.

"Certainly businessmen have every reason to help in this work. We can't do the job individually, but we can do it through our company. We should regard it as a privilege as well as a duty to support the Community Chest."

MOSES H. HUTCHINGS FUNERAL RITES TODAY

Britain Will Not Modify Egypt's Status as a Virtual Protectorate

LONDON, Nov. 7.—(P)—High authoritative quarters revealed tonight Great Britain has given official assurances to Egypt that it has no intention of taking advantage of the present international situation to modify Egypt's status as a virtual protectorate.

These sources said the Earl of Stanhope, undersecretary for foreign affairs, in conveying this information to the Egyptian minister to London, M. Hassan Sabry, also told him Britain does not plan to establish a naval base at Alexandria, Egypt.

Informed quarters, asserting the action was significant, explained it was designed both to still Egyptian opposition and unrest and to counteract propaganda which had been spread in Egypt in recent months. They said apparently this situation was making inroads to the detriment of Britain.

The revelation came as government quarters studied the speech of Cordell Hull, American secretary of state, proposing fuller co-operation of the United States government in attempting to preserve world peace. It was generally felt that Hull indicated the United States could take no further action, despite its sympathetic inclination, because of the limitations of its neutrality laws.

The prospect of success of an oil embargo against Italy, proposed at Geneva conditional upon co-operation of states not in the League, was seen as slim because of the belief the United States could not participate.

Britain's assurances to Egypt came to light when the Egyptian government capitalized on them by issuing a communique.

5 BOY-SCOUTS RECEIVE

LIFE-SAVING MEDALS

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—(P)—Daniel Carter Beard, chairman of the court of honor of the Boy Scouts of America, tonight announced that the court had awarded gold medals, highest Scout award, to five scouts who saved lives at great personal risk.

Four others were awarded certificates for heroism for rescues performed with less danger.

The gold medals were awarded to Bernard Gordon, Phoenix, N. Y.; Bert Delehanty, Pensacola, Fla.; Richard Clay, La Salle, Ill.; Jerome Nixon, Cedar Rapids, Iowa; George Adams, Honolulu, T. H.

The certificates were granted to John McEntee Jr., Maspeth, N. Y.; Ross Elgmon, Salisbury, N. C.; Thomas Thum, Baton Rouge, La., and Arnold Birkmaier, Hebron, N. D.

Delehanty, a Sea Scout, rescued Fred D. Johnson, 32, from drowning by using a Scout carry after Johnson had a cramp while swimming.

BANKING SUPERVISORS OPEN SESSIONS HERE

Deposits of the state banks were $28,919,983,063, or 28 per cent in excess of the national banks' $22,518,246,000. Total resources of the state banks were $34,372,137,450, or 32 per cent in excess of the national banks' $26,061,065,000.

"It is significant that during the year ending June 30, 1935, there was a total decrease in the loans and discounts in all of our banks of $1,130,000,000," Mr. Sims said. "During the same period there was an increase in the bonds, stocks and securities of $1,733,000,000, being an increase of $415,000,000 in the state banks, and $1,338,000,000 in the national banks."

Gratifying Figures.

Saying "the holdings of government securities by our banks are large," he added "the figures are very gratifying when we consider the most distressing conditions which have confronted the business of the whole world during the last several years."

R. S. Hecht, president of the American Bankers' Association, of New Orleans, urged the supervisors to formulate "a new science of bank chartering."

"It is not intended as a criticism of the action of any particular state authorities or any federal officials, but it is a fact that for a long time too many bank charters were granted in too many places and in many cases insufficient consideration was given the qualifications of the people who were allowed to start and operate banks," he said.

Pointing out that the number of banks had been reduced from about 31,000 to 16,000, Mr. Hecht stated "as soon as business makes some further progress there is danger of renewed agitation for the promiscuous chartering of new banks on the theory we have not enough banks to handle the increased volume of trade."

Forces Struggle.

"With the strong competition which government loan agencies are giving the banks, with their low rates and liberal terms on one hand and with the relatively high rates and convenient withdrawal privileges the postal savings system is allowing depositors on the other, many of the banks will have a serious struggle for existence in the next few years," the official warned.

"It seems to me a most important duty rests upon state and federal authorities, and especially on you gentlemen, to keep our banking structure properly co-ordinated with the economic needs of the country and to create a new science of bank chartering," he said.

Governor Talmadge urged the supervisors to "drive the federal government out of the banking business." "If the bankers would wake up they would put a stop to this government competition," he said. "This system is all wrong. The government competes with the banker and then it

President's Address.

R. E. Reichert, in his presidential address, said: "On every hand there is evidence that because our financial structures are on a solid footing, business is on the upgrade and constant improvement may be seen. I believe it is a settled fact that business cannot progress, or a government long operate, without a sound financial structure."

Today Leo T. Crowley, chairman of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation of Washington, D. C., will address the convention on "The Necessity of Cooperation Between State Supervising Authorities and the FDIC." Other addresses will be "Recent Activities of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation" by Charles T. Fischer, Jr., director of the RFC of Washington, and "State Banking and the Future Thereof" by W. S. Elliott, vice president and cashier of the Bank of Canton.

SLAYING IN BARTOW TO BE PROBED NOV. 25

CARTERSVILLE, Ga., Nov. 7.—Judge Claude Pittman stated today he would call an adjourned term of Bartow superior court to meet on the fourth Monday in November to probe the slaying near here last Tuesday of Harry Saylor, allegedly by his brother, Preston Saylor, also known as K. O. Duggan, a prize fighter.

Harry Saylor was shot to death early Tuesday morning at his home at Barnesley Gardens, several miles in the country. Following the shooting, Preston surrendered to officers in the county. He admitted the killing. Feeling ran high in the community where the shooting occurred, and Preston was removed to the Fulton county jail in Atlanta.

Preston Saylor is quoted as saying he shot his brother in self-defense. He was committed to the State hospital at Milledgeville about two years ago, but recently gained his release.

SHOWERS TO CONTINUE IN LOCAL AREA TODAY

Rain will continue in intermittent showers today, while the thermometer records a drop of several degrees in Atlanta, according to the forecast from George W. Mindling, director of the weather bureau.

"Today's rains will be distinctly related to the hurricane that is scheduled to sweep into the Gulf state region some time today and move out into the Atlantic ocean across the northern part of Florida and the southern tip of Georgia."

Temperatures in Atlanta fell slowly yesterday, beginning with 78 degrees around 10 a. m. and dropping to 59 degrees late in the afternoon. Today it is believed the mercury will be somewhere in the fifties.

The disturbances that have caused the rain and the fluctuations in temperature, Mr. Mindling said, are caused merely by the atmospheric disturbances out in the Gulf. Atlanta was separated from the hurricane weather by a belt of fair weather between this city and the Gulf coast.

Sparta School History.

SPARTA, Ga., Nov. 7.—"The Spectator," local high school organ, which is published each week in the office of the Sparta Ishmaelite, local weekly, has an interesting historical item this week regarding the first school in this city, which was conducted in a wooden building on the site of the present home of G. B. Moore, local newspaperman.

This school was established in 1820, more than 100 years ago, as a girls' college. Boys were not allowed to attend.

THAT'S WHY MORE WOMEN PREFER MERITA BREAD THAN ANY OTHER KIND

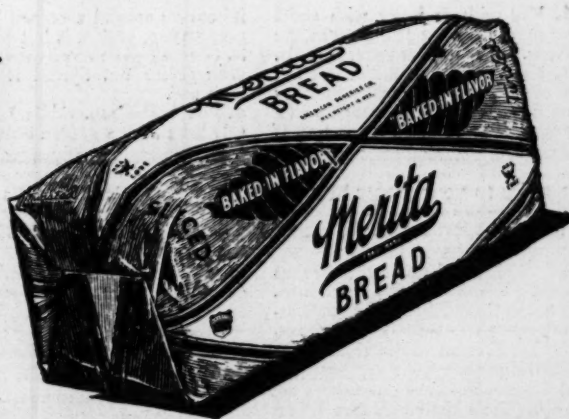

When you unseal a golden brown loaf of Merita Baked-in Flavor Bread, the fragrant fresh aroma that greets you is proof that Merita Bread was baked just a few hours before you bought it.

Merita stays fresh much longer than ordinary bread because it's fresher when you buy it. That is why Merita is truly economical — no leftovers — no stale bread to throw away. Your family will enjoy Merita to the last slice because it stays fresh 'till the last of it is used. Ask your grocer for a loaf of Merita fresh bread today. Enjoy the thrill of bread as delicious as if you yourself had baked it this morning.

Merita
baked-in flavor BREAD

HOW MERITA GUARANTEES YOU FRESH BREAD

Merita Bread is baked every morning. As it leaves the oven it is sealed in heavily waxed paper. Its fragrant oven-freshness is held captive until you yourself unseal it in your own kitchen a few hours later.

Fast delivery trucks rush Merita Bread to your grocers' twice daily. Because of this frequent delivery method your grocer is never overstocked.

You can be sure that when you buy a loaf of Merita Bread it's as fresh as if you had baked it yourself today. Merita Bakers guarantee it.

UNION STATIONS URGED BY RAIL CO-ORDINATOR

Eastman Promises to Help to Overcome Statute Restrictions.

CHICAGO, Nov. 7.—(AP)—Joseph B. Eastman, federal co-ordinator of railroads, today urged speedy unification of terminal facilities in Indianapolis, Birmingham, and Kansas City. He spoke before the association of American railroads, meeting in its first annual convention. The association was formed a year ago by consolidation of the old American Railway Association and the Association of Railway Executives.

Eastman said the unification program he suggested to the railroads a year ago had "not gone forward as well as (he) had hoped," and asked the railroads to put forward a plan of their own, leaving out of consideration section 7B of the Emergency Transportation Act of 1933.

The three cities he mentioned, he said, might be used as models for unification plans in other cities. The 1933 transportation act prohibits the carriers from discharging or detaching employees, and from reducing salaries in taking up any slack created by terminal unification.

Eastman said the existence of this provision had been advanced as a major obstacle to the railroads. He said that if the railroads prepared a plan of their own, steps might be taken to modify section 7B, with the co-operation of rail employees.

Sectional meetings, all of them closed, were held to discuss rates, competitive problems, and improvement of equipment.

Two new directors were elected: S. T. Bledsoe, president of the Santa Fe, and W. P. Kenney, president of the Great Northern, succeeding, respectively, Ralph Budd, president of the Burlington, and Fred W. Sargent, president of the Northwestern. All other directors were re-elected.

BURLESQUE PROMOTER HELD FOR BAD CHECKS

The reopening of the Atlanta theater as a burlesque house during Thanksgiving week received something of a setback yesterday with the arrest of Roy Riddle, New York promoter, on a charge of suspicion of passing bad checks.

Riddle, who has been in the city several weeks, was said by police to have represented himself as backed by New York interests who planned to reopen the theater.

According to Detective L. B. Nahlik, the promoter has cashed approximately $400 in checks on a New York bank which have been returned with the notation: "Signature not known."

Principal losers were said by police to be an attorney, a bondsman, and a downtown hotel. Riddle is being held without bond.

2D SUSPECT NABBED IN ACTRESS THREATS

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—(AP)—Seizure of a second man in connection with attempts to extort $10,000 from Thelma Todd, movie actress, was announced today by the Bureau of Investigation of the Department of Justice.

R. Whitley, head of the bureau's New York office, said the man picked up by his agents, Edward Chiffert, had confessed to writing threatening letters to the blond actress.

He gave the same address, said Whitley, as Harry Schmananski, arrested earlier in connection with the case and now held under bond for trial on a charge of extortion.

Confusion of New York's Subway Is Rivalled on Brazilian Railroad

Rev. H. E. Russell Views Milling Throngs of Humanity Fighting Way to Antiquated Train; Georgia Minister Leaves Rio de Janeiro.

This is the 30th in a series of articles on South American travel by the Rev. Henry Edward Russell, of McDonough, Ga.—Editor's Note.

LAVRAS, MINAS, Brazil, Sept. 30.—Leaving Rio at 7 o'clock in the morning and riding until 10:30 o'clock at night we came to this scattered town. In fact Lavras is so scattered that it is necessary to specify at which of the stations you desire to disembark. It is Brazilian and slow.

One street car that has reached the retirement age goes the circuit of the little city. When the train comes a trailer about three sizes larger than a surrey is hitched to the "bonde," as a street car is known in this country, to care for extra passengers.

The ride up from Rio is one to remember. The first storm came as we entered the depot. Mobs of commuters clamored from the flimsy wooden coaches that brought them to the city and scurried across the station. To avoid personal contact was impossible and even a stiff jolt was passed unnoticed. Put about 40 New York subway stops into one good-sized railroad station and turn on the rush hour and you have a fair picture of the milling and swirling humanity that strove to reach the inside or outside.

Swarms Seek Tickets.
The ticket window was another queer sight. The ticket vendor was incensed with greater care than a bank cashier. Only one round hole of several inches in diameter was available to speak to the agent. The edge of this opening was worn by the noses of people who wanted to go places and had to get the wherewithal from this booth. Tickets in hand and baggage in custody of the Brazilian equivalent of a red cap, we rushed to the train. The rush was unnecessary, as the train crew was evidently immunized to the rush of those on the outside of the iron fence.

The gate was guarded by a ticket puncher who performed his task with the dignity of an archbishop. Since the rush existed no longer there was time to inspect the locomotives and other things about a Brazilian railroad. The locomotives came from the United States, also some of the rolling stock. The tender was filled with coal. This was the first use made of coal in our experience here. Incidentally the coal didn't last long, for shortly after leaving the capital another Baldwin wood burner replaced the coal consumer.

Quick embraces, gushing language, frantic gesticulations were exchanged amid tears as the emotional Brazilians took their leave one of the other. After the usual signal of departure we were rolling out of the beloved station.

GEORGIA MARBLE IN LIBRARY ANNEX

Tate, Ga., Company Supplying 84,000 Cubic Feet for Big Washington Job.

Approximately 84,000 cubic feet of Georgia white marble, to be used for the construction of an annex to the Library of Congress in Washington, D. C., is now being quarried and cut by the Georgia Marble Company, of Tate, Ga. This was learned yesterday. "This annex will be the latest of many buildings or memorials in the national capital which are made of Georgia marble."

Engineers already have begun excavations for placing the foundation of the annex, and officials of the marble company announced yesterday that about 12,000 cubic feet of rock had been forged. The first shipment is expected to be made by January 1, 1936.

David Lynn, architect for the national capitol, drew plans for the annex, assisted by the firm of Pierson & Wilson and Alex B. Trowbridge as consultants. The contract for the marble amounted to approximately $450,000, with the total figure for all contracts being about $6,500,000, it was said. General contractors will be members of the Consolidated Engineering Company, of Baltimore, Md.

Among the many buildings or memorials in Washington which are constructed of Georgia marble are the Pan-American building, Corcoran Art Gallery, Folger Shakespearean Library, Administration building, Department of Agriculture, the statue of Abraham Lincoln in the Lincoln Memorial, and the Dupont memorial fountain.

PWA APPROVES 8 GEORGIA PROJECTS
Total Now Ready for Prosecution Is 94, With 145 Authorized.

The Georgia PWA announced yesterday the approval of plans and specifications for eight additional projects, bringing the total so acted upon under the new program to 94.

Washington officials recently authorized 145 such projects in the state.

Those approved yesterday, together with the dates and places of opening bids and the total estimated cost on each, are as follows:

Nicholls school near Douglas, estimated cost $29,000, bids to be opened November 22 in office of county school superintendent at Douglas.

Fort Valley power equipment and deep well, estimated cost $55,000, bids to be opened November 26 in city hall at Fort Valley.

Dublin water works, estimated cost $103,000, bids to be opened November 29 in city hall at Dublin.

Bulloch county hospital, estimated cost $80,000, bids to be opened December 2 in courthouse at Dublin.

Byronville school, estimated cost $27,000, bids to be opened November 27 in office of county school superintendent at Vienna.

Quitman hospital, estimated cost $45,000, bids to be opened November 29 in city hall at Quitman.

Berrien county school, estimated cost $28,500, bids to be opened November 29 in courthouse at Nashville.

Folkston high school, estimated cost $36,363, bids to be opened November 25 in courthouse at Folkston.

The date for opening bids on the Gordon water works project, previously approved, was changed from November 8 to November 28.

JOHN A. WHITE URGES POLICE DICTATORSHIP

Establishment of a police dictatorship "with power to enforce military discipline" was favored yesterday by Councilman John A. White as a means of eliminating inefficiency and irregularities in the Atlanta police department.

His program contemplates abolition of the police committee, appointment of a single man to direct the destinies of the department with full charge over the personnel.

He pointed out that council had defeated a proposal to bar the rehiring of any police officer fired from the force on charges of drinking, and asserted conditions will not improve until the department is modernized thoroughly.

RICHARD W. COURTS JR. AWARDED $30,000 FEE
Judge E. E. Pomeroy awarded Richard W. Courts Jr. $30,000 in fees for his services in the sale of the Hurt building yesterday in Fulton superior court.

Ronald Ransom and Walter C. Hendrix, receivers for the property, petitioned that Courts be awarded the amount, as he organized the syndicate which recently purchased the building for $2,281,000. Suits and claims against the Hurt building have been settled out of court.

PEACE PARLEY IS SET IN ALABAMA MINE WAR

Both Sides Agree to Meet and Seek Return of 18,000 Workers.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Nov. 7.—(AP) The first definite move toward a settlement of the six-week-old strike of 18,000 Alabama coal miners was taken today as operators and miners announced they would hold a joint meeting in an effort to iron out differences.

Announcement of the meeting, expected to be held tomorrow, came at a hearing before E. H. Dyer, referee in bankruptcy, on a petition of the DeBardeleben Coal Corporation for advice from the court regarding labor difficulties.

On arrival here, Edward F. McGrady, assistant secretary of labor, said the strike "could be ended in 24 hours" if both sides had the proper spirit of arbitration.

Earlier today, Darius A. Thomas, chairman of the advisory committee of the coal operators, announced his group was ready to arbitrate differences, but said the United Mine Workers had declined to arbitrate.

WHEN WE SAY:

"ATLANTA'S finest"

IT ISN'T "JUST TALK." Southern

Dairies Ice Cream is made of rich, real cream, the finest cane sugar and pure natural flavorings... the most expensive ingredients that can be bought.

It is made in the most modern ice cream plant in Atlanta—if not the entire South.

It is the only Atlanta-made ice cream to be awarded the Good Housekeeping Seal of Approval.

It is the only local ice cream made under the Sealtest System of Laboratory Protection.*

These are the things that make Southern Dairies Ice Cream "Atlanta's finest" . . . that give it that real "home-made" flavor and exquisite smoothness.

And remember this—Southern Dairies costs the merchant more to buy. Yet he charges you no more than the price of ordinary ice cream. He is giving you a premium ice cream at an "everyday" price.

Have you tasted Southern Dairies lately? Why not enjoy some today? Your Southern Dairies merchant has a wide variety of delicious flavors.

TALMADGE IS WILLING TO DEBATE GOV. OLSON

Georgian Says He'll "Follow Up" Forensic Challenge By Minnesotan.

Governor Talmadge said yesterday he will "follow up" the challenge of Governor Olson, of Minnesota, for a joint debate and said in a statement that President Roosevelt's request for advice from preachers had been "too late."

Olson some time ago made a blanket offer to debate affirmatively the contention that "throughout American history the only danger to our constitution came from and still comes from the judicial branch of our government."

Atlanta HOMES EQUIPPED WITH

Residence, Mr. C. E. Roberts, Woodward Way

MONCRIEF Air CONDITIONING

This charming brick home of Mr. C. E. Roberts, Woodward Way, designed by Will Griffin, architect, is but one of the hundreds of Atlanta homes that enjoy the comfort, health and cleanliness of Moncrief Air-Conditioning. This installation uses natural gas for fuel.

With this modern system this beautiful home is comfortable winter and summer. The air is properly moistened, cleaned and filtered of dust, dirt and bacteria. Rugs, draperies and furnishings are free from the usual dust accumulations and cleaning and redecorating costs are materially reduced. Moncrief Air-Conditioning System protects the health of the family by catching and destroying bacteria in the air filters.

Investigate this modern system today—it can be economically installed in either a new home or one already built, and can use coal, oil or gas for fuel.

Moncrief also installs furnaces, weather-stripping, rock wool attic insulation, ventilating and humidification systems and refrigeration for home cooling.

Mayflower Order Head To Visit Atlanta Today

Burnham Standish Colburn, of Biltmore, N. C., governor-general of the Society of Mayflower Descendants in the United States, will arrive here today to attend the regional meeting of Boy Scouts and to visit the Georgia society, it was announced yesterday.

Mrs. Claude C. Smith, governor of the Georgia society, will preside at a banquet which the state organization will give for Mr. Colburn at the women's club tomorrow night. The governor-general, a retired capitalist, went to Biltmore from Detroit and organized the North Carolina society.

He is president of the First National Bank & Trust Co. of Asheville, and a trustee of the public school system there. He is a leader in the Biltmore Forest development. A former president of the Pen and Plate Club, of Asheville, he gives a miniature of the Mayflower cup for the outstanding literary work done in the state each year.

ernment, which has constantly usurped its authority. Talmadge's comment on the President's letter to ministers was inspired by a letter from Rev. C. Byrd Harbour, pastor of the First Street Methodist church in Macon, who referred to the President as "the happy spender."

A. J. Hartley, president of the Fulton County Bar Association, called Olson's debate challenge to the attention of Governor Talmadge, who often terms himself "an old-fashioned Jeffersonian democrat."

Wrote Talmadge to Hartley: "I appreciate your confidence in me. . . . If Governor Olson desires to follow up the challenge further, I would appreciate your communicating with me as to the time and place for the discussion."

Said Talmadge to the reporters in his press conference: "If that fellow Olson does follow it up we'll have some real fun."

Commenting on the President's letter to clergymen, Talmadge, a severe critic of the New Deal, said: "It is a great thing to call on preachers and other religious people, and hard-working people, for advice about the government, but this call should be made before any revolutionary actions are taken."

GOVERNOR OLSON PLEADED BY TALMADGE ACCEPTANCE

ST. PAUL, Nov. 7.—(P)—Governor Olson today received "with pleasure" information that Governor Talmadge, of Georgia, had tentatively accepted a challenge to debate with the Minnesota chief executive on a constitutional question.

Governor Olson issued a challenge to "any prominent lawyer" to debate the question: "Resolved, That throughout American history the only danger to our constitution came and still comes from the judicial branch of the government, which has constantly usurped its authority." Olson would take the affirmative. Governor Olson withheld further comment until he hears directly from Governor Talmadge.

MISSIONARY TO JAPAN RELATES EXPERIENCES

Dr. Charles A. Logan, missionary to Japan for 33 years and a former teacher at Agnes Scott College, will speak on his experiences in the Orient several times during his visit here.

He will talk at 3 o'clock this afternoon in the Ormeau Presbyterian church, and at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning in the chapel at Agnes Scott. He will address the congregations of the Central Presbyterian church at 11 o'clock Sunday, and the Decatur Presbyterian church at 7 o'clock. The Presbyterian Ministers' Association, meeting in the Y. M. C. A., will hear the missionary at 11 o'clock Monday morning. At 6:30 o'clock Monday night he will speak at Columbia Seminary.

JURY INVESTIGATION OF BOYKIN CONCLUDED

Outcome of Worthy Charges Against Solicitor To Be Revealed Today.

The grand jury yesterday afternoon was believed to have acted on the charges of Sam Worthy against Solicitor-General John A. Boykin but whether an indictment or a no-bill was voted could not be ascertained.

The bill was in the hands of a deputy sheriff last night and will be returned in open court this morning.

The grand jury has spent two days investigating the charges of Worthy against Boykin and others and yesterday morning it returned three no-bills and one indictment, T. E. Rainey, a witness in the trial when Worthy was convicted in connection with a fake damage claim, was named in a true bill charging him with perjury.

The grand jury has spent two days investigating the charges of Worthy against Boykin and others and yesterday morning it returned three no-bills and one indictment, T. E. Rainey, a witness in the trial when Worthy was convicted in connection with a fake damage claim, was named in a true bill charging him with perjury.

Deputy Sheriff R. M. Holland, Deputy Sheriff R. C. McCall Jr. and R. C. Smith, special investigator for the Georgia Power Company, were all cleared of charges of perjury.

The action of the grand jury on the bill naming Boykin will not be known until the bill is presented in Fulton county superior court. It was understood Solicitor-General Pro Tem, Elbert P. Tuttle, who was appointed to prosecute Worthy's charges by Judge Hugh M. Dorsey, will return the bill and possibly others this morning at 10 o'clock.

Thomas A. Mays, foreman of the grand jury, had no comment to make. Many witnesses, including Judge James C. Davis, who was called from the courtroom where he was presiding over a division of Fulton superior court, appeared before the jury yesterday.

Rainey was charged by the jury with stating in a judicial proceeding he had never told doctors and hospital attaches he was injured on a street car, while the indictment asserted he had.

Worthy, who is under sentence of 8 to 12 years for conviction of perjury, was before the grand jury more than an hour yesterday.

HOLIDAY IS CALLED ON ARMISTICE DAY

Governor, Mayor Proclaim Observance But Children Must Stay in School.

Governor Talmadge and Mayor Key yesterday issued proclamations designating Monday, Armistice Day, as a day of prayer and thanksgiving and declaring a holiday for its observance.

Unless the Atlanta Board of Education, however, changes its attitude, 60,000 Atlanta school children will attend classes Monday on the holiday for the first time in the 17 years since the armistice ended the World War. The board calendar fails to provide for a holiday and Willis A. Sutton, school superintendent, told the board at the time the calendar was submitted he believed the day would mean more if children attended school and had the importance of the day explained by their respective teachers and speakers from patriotic organizations.

The Governor decreed all state offices shall be closed, and Key declared the day a holiday for the city hall. Both called on Georgians and Atlantans to pay fitting tribute to those who made the supreme sacrifice.

Governor Talmadge asked citizens to bow their heads at 11 a. m. for two minutes in silent prayer.

He will be the principal speaker on an Armistice Day program at Brewton, Ala.

GENERAL JOHNSON TO SPEAK TUESDAY

Talmadge To Introduce New Deal Spokesman at Wesley Auditorium

Governor Talmadge will introduce General Hugh S. Johnson when the fiery spokesman for the New Deal lectures here next Tuesday night in the Wesley Memorial auditorium. It was announced yesterday. Aroved leaders of opposing factions of the present administration, both men are expected to take part in the open forum discussion following the lecture.

In his address, "The Government and the Constitution," General Johnson will offer friendly criticism of the New Deal, it was said. He played a large part in designing the New Deal as it was first announced by President Roosevelt. He also was asked by the President to draft the first National Industrial Recovery Act and to serve as the first recovery administrator. Governor Talmadge, on the other hand, is one of the leading antagonists of the New Deal.

Tickets for the lecture, which is under the auspices of the Alkabarst Celebrity Bureau, are on sale at Davison-Paxon's and Rich's and at the Alkabarst offices in the Mortgage Guarantee building. All seats will be reserved. There will be a nominal admission charge.

SALVATION ARMY ASKS SUPPLIES FOR NEEDY

With the coming of winter the industrial center of the Salvation Army is in serious need of clothing and supplies for hundreds of needy persons in the city, it was announced yesterday.

"Conditions that have prevailed for the past few winters have been more terrific than we've ever faced before," Major W. H. Range, head of the center, said yesterday. "There is at present a need for clothing that taxes our resources to the limit."

He asks that Atlantans with old clothing, shoes, stoves, bedding, toys, hats and discarded furniture telephone Jackson 2224. A truck from the center will call for the articles. Major Range pointed out the clothing not only meets the need of the poor but also that funds from its sale often times provide work and a home for men who otherwise would be forced on the city. The industrial center is not a beneficiary of the Community Chest program, he said.

DETECTIVE CONVICTED OF BEING INTOXICATED

Found guilty on a charge of intoxication, Detective James A. Buice, recently suspended head of the Atlanta police night vice squad, was fined yesterday by Recorder John L. Cone. The fine of $10, and $2 costs, was suspended, however, pending Buice's trial before the police committee of city council next Thursday night.

At the hearing Captain G. N. Ellis testified he found Buice asleep in an intoxicated condition Tuesday morning on a trolley car at Georgia avenue and Pryor street. Buice was arrested and subsequently suspended by order of Chief Sturdivant.

Buice told the court he fell asleep on the trolley car because he had taken a powerful sedative to allay pain from recent dental work. A druggist corroborated Buice's statement about purchasing the sedative.

STAVISKY FEAR CITED BY FORMER EMPLOYE

Appraiser Who Overvalued
Jewels Blames Suicide's Influence.

PARIS, Nov. 7.—(AP)—Fear of the great power of Serge Stavisky, alleged swindler, was said today by a defendant in the trial of his 20 alleged accomplices to have been his reason for joining their operations.

Henri Cohen, appraiser in the Bayonne city pawnshop, which Stavisky organized, describing the influence of the alleged swindler, who was found dead with a bullet in his head, said Stavisky had a pass issued by the Paris police which allowed him to attend horse races by the side of the president of France.

Gustave Tissier, one-time manager of the pawnshop, testified that Joseph Garat, member of the chamber of deputies and former mayor of Bayonne, was used by Stavisky in preventing examination of the pawnshop by giving the examiners liquor and entertaining them.

Both Tissier and Garat are also defendants in the trial. Garat is accused of having assisted Stavisky in starting the pawnshop, with the principal purpose of outwitting investors. He is alleged to have sold bonds in excess of the organization's needs, and to have attempted to dissuade holders from requesting payments when they were due.

Tissier, the prosecution charges, made exaggerated loans and issued false bonds, under Stavisky's direction. Cohen, who had been a salesman in a chain of Stavisky jewelry stores, is alleged to have greatly overvalued jewels in his post as appraiser in the pawnshop. Among the jewels were fake emeralds, the prosecution says, which Vincent Emile Dignin, a codefendant, pawned for Stavisky.

Cohen is accused of having appraised 608,000 francs worth of jewels at 22,717,000 francs, enabling Stavisky to pawn them for 15,144,000 francs. Then Cohen quit his job shortly before Tissier confessed the swindles, the prosecution charges, but has since admitted that he acted under threats from Stavisky.

Tissier testified that on one occasion Garat greeted an inspector with a speech praising the Bayonne shop as a model institution, while actually there were 238,000,000 francs in false bonds in the vault.

LONDON NEWSMAN IS LOST OFF LINER

Harold Scarborough Disappears From Deck of Berengaria.

SOUTHAMPTON, Nov. 7.—(AP)—Harold Scarborough, former London correspondent of the New York Herald-Tribune, was reported to have disappeared overboard this morning from the inbound S. S. Berengaria off Ryde, Isle of Wight.

A passport and a wallet belonging to Scarborough, who was returning from a trip to New York, were found on the deck.

Fellow passengers said the veteran foreign correspondent had appeared depressed.

A lifeboat was launched to search off the island while the liner docked, but the search was fruitless. Scarborough is survived by his widow, the former Gladys Mary Jones, whom he married in 1921, and a daughter, Elizabeth Anne. Scarborough was born October 25, 1897, at Bel Air, Md. He was graduated from Johns Hopkins University in 1917 and began as a reporter on the Baltimore News that same year. He went to the London bureau of the Herald-Tribune in 1920, became that paper's London correspondent in 1925, and had been its European editorial manager since 1928 until recently.

Painful Piles

Go Quick—No Cutting—No Salves

If you think an operation is always the only way to escape the misery of torturing Piles, it's because you haven't heard of HEM-ROID, the harmless internal medicine discovered by a western physician.

After years of study Dr. J. S. Leonard was convinced that the cause of Piles was internal—bad circulation of blood in the lower bowel—the hemorrhoidal veins filled with stagnant blood—and that the right and safe way to get freedom from Pile agony was to remove the cause with an internal medicine. Immediately the doctor set to work to find the remedy. He succeeded and called his prescription HEM-ROID.

Pile sufferers everywhere are benefiting by Dr. Leonard's discovery, on why doubt or delay longer when Jacobs Drug Stores and all druggists say, "No matter what kind of Piles you have, one bottle of HEM-ROID tablets must show you the safe close way to get rid of your pile misery or money back."—(Adv.)

Dog Limp to Clinic, Leg Broken; Begs Aid

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Nov. 7.—(AP)

Rather apologetically, he limped into the receiving room of General Hospital early today morning. Mrs. Ruth Michaelson, the nurse in charge, nodded a brief good morning and then forgot about him in the press of her duties. That afternoon she ran into him again in the corridor, and, as she now recalls, he looked at her pleadingly. Wednesday morning he was still on hand, and in the afternoon looked in again at the door of the receiving ward.

This morning, the limp was more pronounced when he arrived at the hospital. Dr. J. Cash King noticed him hobbling down the corridor. He picked him up, carried him to the X-ray table, and after an examination of the leg, muttered: "Just as I thought. A clean fracture."

Madison Twentieth put a splint on the broken leg and the patient is getting along nicely. He's just a mongrel dog, but, wailed Mrs. Michaelson, "he had no one to take care of him."

To make amends, the hospital staff in solemn rites formally adopted the stray dog tonight and even gave him a name—John Canine—after the late Memphis philanthropist.

John, in a cozy corner, thumped the floor with his reddish-brown tail in grateful approval.

BITTER FIGHT IS SEEN OVER MISS. ROAD BILL

Gov. Conner Silent on Outcome of Proposed Highway Program.

JACKSON, Miss., Nov. 7.—(AP)—Storm clouds of controversy continued to gather about Mississippi's legislative halls today over a proposed $36,000,000 highway building program, even before such a program has been submitted to the "lame duck" session of the legislature for its consideration.

Remarking singularly silent, Governor Bennett Conner offered no comment upon his expected course of action—whether or not he will submit the important road bill to the legislature.

Friends of the measure, within and without the legislative halls, today were reported pressing for action on the measure at the current extraordinary session, and a "secret caucus" of house members is said to have resulted in obtaining 76 signatures to the measure. Only 8 short of the three-fifths majority required for passage of a revenue measure.

Opponents of the highway bill, or those who seek to defer action on the road building program until a new state administration is inaugurated in January, took new courage today in an open letter from Mississippi's governor-elect, Hugh L. White, of Columbia, addressed to Gov. W. C. Clegg, president of the Citizens' Highway Association, which presented the bill to the governor.

The governor-elect expressed the view that "introduction of this bill at this particular time is untimely," adding that "there exists a deep-seated popular prejudice toward last-day appointments by an administration passing from power."

The incoming governor declared that "there are many phases of this bill which in my judgment are subject to criticism and others subject to debate."

EXTENSION URGED ON U. S. SEED LOANS

Sen. Shipstead Says Collections Now Are Hardships.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—(AP)—Senator Shipstead, farmer-labor, Minnesota, is complaining to farm leading officials against insistence of their field men that farmers pay up feed and seed loans.

"If the farmers have to sell their first crop in years to pay back the loans," Shipstead told reporters, "there won't be any feed left for them to go ahead on, and they won't be able to meet mortgage interest and such because the drought compelled them to get rid of their stock."

"What I want to see is that their notes be extended for a year so they can catch up," Shipstead said. Officials here had advised him they would not deal unjustly or unreasonably with the farmers, but he declared "the men in the field have been insisting on collections anyway."

EPISCOPAL CONVENTION ELECTS 2 NEW BISHOPS

HOUSTON, Texas, Nov. 7.—(AP)—The house of Episcopal bishops, approaching the close of its annual session, elected two new bishops today and transferred another.

Right Reverend Charles F. Reissner was elected bishop of North Missouri.

Tokyo, Japan, to succeed Bishop John The Very Rev. Leopold Kroll, dean of the cathedral at Port Au Prince, Haiti, was elected bishop of Liberia. The Right Rev. Fred Bartlett was elected bishop of the southern part of Idaho. Bishop Bartlett was transferred from North Dakota to the Idaho missionary district.

JAP VOLCANO ERUPTS, ASH COVERS TOKYO

TOKYO, Nov. 7.—(AP)—Clouds of fine volcanic ash sifted down on Tokyo today, partly obscuring the sun, as the result of the year's most violent eruption of the famous Mount Asama, 90 miles to the northwest. The volcano, which had been erupting at intervals for several months, gave vent today to a terrific noise and a pillar of smoke visible for 30 miles.

All surrounding villages were darkened by the smoke and ash. No casualties were reported, but considerable damage to late crops was feared.

Pola Will Wed Briton, 'No More Mdivanis'

LONDON, Nov. 7.—(AP)—With the declaration, "no more Mdivanis!" Pola Negri disclosed today she will marry "a middle-aged British statesman" sometime before Christmas.

She kept secret her new fiancé's identity, saying:

"You'll be amazed when you find out who it is—in about two weeks." Since her divorce from Serge Mdivani in 1931, Miss Negri has several times announced her intention of re-marrying.

In February, 1932, when appearing on a Chicago stage, she said she was engaged to marry a Chicagoan. While filling a theatrical engagement in Pittsburgh in April of that year, she said she would marry "a wealthy Chicago man" in July or August.

This summer she said she had changed her mind and decided on marrying a prominent Englishman. That statement was made while she was at Cap Ferrat, France.

2 MEN AND 2 WOMEN FACE KIDNAPING TRIAL

Charges Against Quartet in Tennessee To Go to Grand Jury Today.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 7.—(AP)

Sheriff J. Wesley Brewer announced today that kidnaping charges against Cletus Stone, escaped Illinois state prison convict; his brother, Carl, and two women listed as Mrs. Basil Banghart and Helen Barkley, of Knoxville, will be presented to the Knox county grand jury tomorrow.

The four, arrested last week near Clayton, Mo., were returned here last night by Sheriff Brewer.

The sheriff said the four are charged with kidnaping Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Costner from their home here the night of October 25 and demanding $10,000 ransom.

Mrs. Banghart is the wife of Basil Banghart, serving a prison sentence in Illinois for the kidnaping of John (Jake the Barber) Factor in Chicago.

Women Join Amelia in Defending First Feminine Air-Lines Pilot

By BESS FURMAN.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—(AP)—Feminists of the national capital today joined Amelia Earhart in championing Helen Richey, first woman airlines pilot, who wouldn't be just a "fair weather flyer" and so quit.

Apparently, Miss Earhart also stirred considerable argument throughout the country about whether or not a man's physical strength is essential to transport work.

Department of Commerce air officials, who said they had merely suggested to Helen's boss when she was hired as pilot on Central Airlines that she not fly the big tri-motor planes in the worst weather, today stood their grounds on their original premise—that the whole fuss was none of their making.

"It was not an order, not an attachment to her transport license," they said. "It was just an informal suggestion made to the airlines."

Alice Paul, the feminist who led White House picketing in Woodrow Wilson's time, asserted such "informal suggestions" had made Miss Richey's position as pilot impossible.

"Certainly Miss Earhart herself has demonstrated the fallacy of the old idea of women's physical inferiority which we meet on a thousand fronts every day."

But out in Kansas City, Ruth Van-land, who holds a transport license, said:

"In private or race flying women need not give ground to men. But I've flown big transport planes, and it's hard physical work. It takes strength, and some times a great deal of strength. A woman can't step in and fly at night readily, either."

Somewhat along the same line was the comment of Miss Ruth Nichols, now recovering in a Troy, N. Y., hospital from injuries in the crash of an airplane that cost the life of her pilot.

"Muscular Energy Essential," "It is true," Miss Nichols said, "that the large transport planes require a good deal of muscular energy."

In heavy weather on the airlines it has on occasion required two men to pull on the wheel. As transport planes are becoming increasingly large in size the problem of direct control is increasingly greater.

"Only two weeks ago I was informed it was being considered by one of our largest manufacturers to operate the rudder by separate motor. I feel that here is where the problem lies, mainly in the construction end of modern transports rather than in the muscular stamina of the pilot."

In Pittsburgh Miss Richey herself said: "I don't want to be drawn into any controversy because I left Central Airlines in a very friendly spirit. Miss Earhart has told the story better than I could."

72 Have Transport Licenses. Latest Department of Commerce records, as of October 1, showed that 72 women hold transport licenses, having taken the same tests as men.

These are the highest licenses issued, requiring 200 hours of solo flying. Of these 72 women, none now have jobs on any of the big transport lines carrying the mail.

The remainder of a total of 402 women pilots are divided as follows: 27 with limited commercial licenses, permitting co-piloting on an airline but not flying a ship alone; 254 private pilots, qualified to fly their own planes and take passengers up but not for pay, and 49 amateur licenses, those issued in the student status.

H. H. VAN LOON, AUTHOR, WILL MARRY AGAIN

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 7.—(AP)—H. H. Van Loon, noted short story and screen writer, who complained he was in and out of domestic hot water during the 15 years of wedded life with his first wife, is preparing to marry again.

The second Mrs. Van Loon, the writer announced, will be Rosemary Brydova, Hollywood writer, former wife of W. C. Rubin, Milwaukee attorney.

ATLANTA ATTORNEY IS REFUSED APPEAL

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 7.—(AP)—The United States fifth circuit court of appeals today refused Augustine F. Burbage, Atlanta attorney, appeal from a northern Georgia district court's decision denying him collection on $5,000 war risk insurance. The appellate court agreed with the district court in the government's contention that Burbage was not totally and permanently disabled by July 1, 1919, the time the policy was allowed to lapse.

ROOSEVELT CONDOLES WIDOW OF SUNDAY

Famed Evangelist To Be Buried Saturday in City That Started Him.

CHICAGO, Nov. 7.—(AP)—Thousands of messages condoling the Rev. "Billy" Sunday's widow in the noted evangelist's sudden death were borne to the North Side home, where his body lay today.

One came from President Franklin D. Roosevelt. Another was sent by Mayor Fiorello H. LaGuardia, of New York. Others were forwarded by friends—prominent and obscure—who had known Sunday when he followed the baseball paths and the "sawdust trail" with remarkable success.

buoyed by this impressive manifestation of sympathy, the widow, Mrs. Helen Sunday, announced funeral services would be held at 2 p. m. Saturday at the Moody Memorial church in Chicago. The body will lie in state in the edifice for several hours before the rites are conducted.

Mrs. Sunday turned to the men who had accompanied her husband around the gospel circuit for aid in arranging further details. These include his private secretary and pianist, Bentley Ackley, of Philadelphia; his song leader, Homer Rodheaver, and his aid, Harry Clark, of Chicago. They will all participate in the obsequies.

The two sons, William Jr. and Paul, arrived by plane from Los Angeles to comfort their mother.

The chief executive's telegram read: "I am greatly grieved to hear your distinguished husband has died."

Mrs. Sunday joined me in extending our deepest sympathy."

Mrs. Sunday discussed in a philosophical vein the death of her 72-year-old husband from a heart attack last night.

"He was sensible about death. He told me only yesterday: 'If I go, I know you'll be all right. No one can take his place but I know a man who saved a million souls will have no trouble getting into heaven.'"

She talked wistfully of the 39 years they had traveled the evangelistic road together. She estimated they had appeared before 85,000,000 persons.

Audiences in all parts of the country had heard him plead and shout in the language of the Scriptures and the parables of the ball yard. They had seen him strip off coat and vest so he could fling his fists unfettered at his particular enemy, the devil.

Thousands of dollars were contributed during revivals featuring his merger of the arts of the religious and the showman but none would venture a guess as to the size of his estate. Friends recalled he had said he spent all the gifts to "bring souls to salvation."

Despite his waning strength, the third baseman turned preacher had labored to the end. In his room when he died were the manuscripts of sermons he had drafted.

He succumbed in the city where he had first won national fame as the house-slendering star of "Cap" Adrian Anson's White Stockings. He played professional ball for seven years before he turned to evangelism.

They dug up some yellowed newspaper clippings today to read the Rev. Sunday's own preview of his eternal life. He prophesied 10 years ago:

"I'll go up and shake Jesus by the hand. Then I'll ask to see Abraham. Think of sitting with Peter, James and John! What a good time we'll have!"

TIGER GIRL CONVICTED OF MANSLAUGHTER

OLIVEHART, Nov. 7.—(AP)—Nineteen-year-old Helen Harmon, of Chicago, was convicted of manslaughter by a jury in common pleas court tonight in connection with the slaying of Albert Wesosky, 20, last April in a $24 butcher shop holdup.

Known to police as the "Tiger Girl," she is the third member of a robber group to draw convictions in connection with the robbery. Her companions, Donald Eberle and John Plover, both were convicted of first degree murder and have been sentenced to die in the electric chair.

Fingerprints Identify Negro Gang Fugitive

Refusal of a negro chain gang fugitive to answer questions asked him by detectives proved unavailing yesterday when fingerprints and photographs revealed to police the suspect's past criminal record.

Arrested as a suspected escaped convict at the curb market by Patrolmen W. D. Nash and J. W. Collins, the negro was taken to police headquarters for questioning.

Joseph Bray, assistant to the chief of the identification bureau, compared fingerprints and photographs with his records, which, police said, revealed the suspect as Wesley Busby, 25, who escaped from the Baker county chain gang after serving six years of a 5-to-10-year sentence for robbery.

Confronted with the records, the negro said, "Boss, you got me. You're right."

Physician Confesses Taking Lives Of 5 Incurable Private Patients

"I'd Do It Again," He Asserts, "Under Similar Circumstances; Those Killed Were Doomed to Live in Imbecility or Disease, He Avers.

LONDON, Nov. 7.—(AP)—A campaign to establish "the right of persons suffering from incurable disease to die" was announced today after an English doctor was reported to have admitted five "mercy slayings."

A "kindly faced elderly family doctor," said the Daily Mail, told it in a "confession."

"I've taken life on five different occasions. My conscience never pricked me, and I carry with me memories of those cases and the happy faces before they died."

Lord Moynehan, one of Britain's most distinguished surgeons, disclosed a campaign to give incurables "the right to die."

This is a serious proposition, said the peer, who has been an advocate of the formation of a "voluntary euthanasia legalization society."

Lord Moynehan announced the group to which he and other influential members of the medical profession and clergymen belong, has called a meeting December 10 at headquarters of the British Medical Association in London to propose "laying the whole proposition before the country."

He declined comment on the article carried by the Daily Mail, asserting "we want no cheap advertising" and that the Daily Mail story was a side issue.

"The right to die is gaining support throughout the nation," continued the peer, "and we believe we will not find ourselves out of step with the public opinion, who are objecting for obvious reasons."

Lord Moynehan said he planned to present a bill covering the death in certain circumstances to the next parliament.

The Daily Mail quoted the "kindly faced elderly family doctor" as saying: "I've broken the law and, circumstances being similar, I'd do it again. . . if need be, I'm prepared to face any tribunal in the land."

The doctor said the five cases were an infant "clearly doomed to imbecility" and four adults suffering from incurable diseases.

Sponsors of the "right to die society" include Professor Julian Huxley, the Earl of Listowel and Lord Denman, former governor general of Australia.

N. Y. ACADEMY OF MEDICINE OPPOSED TO MOVEMENT

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—(AP)—The New York Academy of Medicine stood opposed tonight to any proposal that physicians be permitted to end the sufferings of incurably diseased patients.

"Any suggestion involving the destruction of human life is contrary to both the spirit and letter of medicine," said Dr. Iago Goldston, executive secretary of the academy's information bureau.

Asserting the medical profession was devoted, "both in practice and ideology," to the curing of patients, he said:

"If society decides it needs executioners, it will need to look for them outside the ranks of medical men."

2 PHYSICIANS OPPOSE POWER TO TAKE LIVES

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—(UP)—The power to take the lives of even their incurable patients is one that doctors do not desire, two nationally known physicians agreed tonight.

In an interview with an anonymous doctor published yesterday in London in which he said he had taken five lives for humane reasons, Dr. William A. White, ex-president of three National Medical Associations, said that the power to decide life or death assumed by the British physicians was "dangerous business."

Dr. Hugh S. Cumming, surgeon-general of the United States Public Health Service, said that every doctor had his own opinions and that the humanitarian reasons for such an act balanced against the religious and legal arguments for not taking any lives.

"Mankind can not possibly trust such great powers—that of life or death—to an individual," Dr. White said. "It is too terrible a power to place with any human being."

DOCTORS JOIN IN PROTEST TO 'MERCY KILLING'

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 7.—(AP)—Internationally known specialists united tonight in condemning the "mercy killing" of so-called incurable patients.

No doctor has the right to take a patient's life, since he has no way of being certain a case is incurable, it was agreed by American and foreign specialists, here for a clinical meeting.

Commenting on an unidentified patient, Dr. White said:

"Elimination of all automobiles except two reserved for himself and the Princess Marie Joe."

Reduction of lights to a minimum of candle-power.

Reduction of heating for "indispensable" rooms.

In addition the prince's letter-heads, formerly made up of four-page folders, will be cut to a business-like single sheet and paper thus saved will be turned over to the Red Cross.

Princesses to Attend Fete.

WAYCROSS, Ga., Nov. 7.—Participating in the forest festival which will be staged here during all of next week will be princesses from a number of south Georgia and north Florida cities. It is announced by the festival headquarters.

Among the princesses already selected are Miss Beverly Tucker, of Ocala; Miss Olga Strickland, of Douglas; Miss Clyde Hattaway, of Fitzgerald; Miss Jack Studstill, of Lakeland; Miss Katharine Carter, of Jessup; and Miss Louise Snyder, of Starke, Florida.

Negus' Son in Capital, May Be Named King

ADDIS ABABA, Nov. 7.—(AP)—The arrival of Crown Prince Asfa Wosana from Dessie today, where he had been governor general of the province, gave rise to rumors that Emperor Haile Selassie might order his 20-year-old son crowned king in case anything happens to the emperor or at the front.

Asfa Wosana (his name means "expand frontiers") could easily be elevated to a throne. Ethiopians point out that since Haile Selassie's title is "King of Kings," he possesses the right to have kings under him.

In 1928, during the reign of the empress Zauditu, aunt of Haile Selassie, he was crowned king while holding the titles of crown prince and regent. Two years later, following Zauditu's death, the present emperor was invested with the full title "King of Kings. Anointed of God, and Conquering Lion of Judah."

Swastika REPLACES GERMANY'S IRON CROSS

Nazis Hail Change as Evidence of Break With Old Orders.

BERLIN, Nov. 7.—(AP)—The Nazi swastika replaced the monarchy's iron cross as Germany's war emblem today.

The new flags were raised for the first time when first contingents of Adolf Hitler's conscript army took military oaths at all garrisons.

SWASTIKA REPLACES GERMANY'S IRON CROSS

Nazis Hail Change as Evidence of Break With Old Orders.

BERLIN, Nov. 7.—(AP)—The Nazi swastika replaced the monarchy's iron cross as Germany's war emblem today.

The new flags were raised for the first time when first contingents of Adolf Hitler's conscript army took military oaths at all garrisons.

The ceremonies at the military posts were hailed by Nazi officials as further evidence of the breaking of German life with the past under the Hitler dictatorship.

Religious services preceded the ceremonies of oath-taking. "I pledge to God this holy oath that I shall render unswerving obedience to the Führer of the German Reich and the people of Adolf Hitler, and that as a brave soldier I shall be ready at any time to sacrifice my life for this oath."

Guas boomed during the ceremonies, and orators exhorted the soldiers to follow Hitler even to death.

General Werner von Blomberg, minister of defense, attended the program at Potsdam, where 3,738 recruits took the oath.

The total number of conscripts sworn in throughout Germany was not disclosed.

JOHNSTON SAVES NEGRO FORM CHAIR

COLUMBIA, S. C., Nov. 7.—(AP)—After spending 45 minutes in a death cell with Willie (Snake) Bird, condemned negro, Governor Olin Johnston today granted Bird the first leniency of his administration.

The governor disclosed that he had talked with the negro at length last night in the squalid death house of the state penitentiary deciding to commute his death sentence to life imprisonment.

"He did not ask me for clemency. He did not even ask me last night when I talked to him."

The negro was sentenced to be electrocuted at 1 a. m. tomorrow for killing Lauran Green, a negro girl, in a quarrel over money she asked.

DENTAL CONVENTION DISCUSSES PYORRHEA

Doctor Declares Modern Life Too Complex for Man's Body and Mind.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 7.—(AP)—Discussions by dentists attending the seventy-seventh annual convention of the American Dental Association turned today to means of fighting pyorrhea and recently discovered mechanical methods for installing plates. As the 7,000 delegates prepared to wind up their four-day conferences, the association's house of delegates made ready to elect officers and select the 1936 convention city.

Advanced treatments for combating pyorrhea were demonstrated by Dr. G. F. Webb, of Kansas City. The operative dentistry, materia medica and therapeutics section today heard Dr. Clifford J. Barborka, former research dietitian at the Mayo clinic, declare the average diet of the average American "is likely to be deficient in minerals, residue and vitamins because of modern tendencies to use meat, dairy products and eggs less freely than formerly."

"Modern civilization has developed an environment that is altogether too complex for either of man's mind or his body," Dr. Barborka said.

Blue Ribbon Exhibit at Flower Display

First prize of $35 and a blue ribbon were awarded the Lullwater Garden Club yesterday at the Southeastern Flower Show for the best flower arrangement more than 15 inches high, shown above. The show is in progress all this week at the auditorium.

Flower Show To Open Saturday At 9 O'Clock to Accommodate Crowd

Announcement that the Southeastern Flower Show will open at 9 o'clock Saturday morning, instead of the usual hour of 12:30, and remain open until midnight, was made last night by F. B. Steward, managing director. The hours today will be from 12:30 to 11 p. m.

"Popularity of the show has prompted the addition of these extra hours in order to accommodate the public," said Mr. Steward. "The public response has been highly gratifying all week and we anticipate a record attendance on Saturday."

Crowds continued large throughout Thursday in spite of threatening weather and Mr. Steward predicted a record attendance for the week.

Residents of the Home for Old Women and of the Old Soldiers' home will be guests of the show on Saturday morning, an invitation to them to see the exhibits without charge having been extended last night by Mr. Steward and E. A. Wachendorf, general chairman.

The Lullwater Garden Club was awarded first prize of $35 and the Southeastern Flower Show Blue Ribbon by the judges yesterday in the garden club competition for the best flower arrangement more than 15 inches in height.

Second prize went to the Atkins Park Garden Club; third to the Habersham Garden Club, while the garden division of the Hapeville Woman's Club was given honorable mention.

The Lullwater Garden Club's blue ribbon arrangement consisted of a white wicker bowl with a Chinese figurine, containing a line arrangement of rubrum and alba speciosum, white gerbera, oleandra, and a spray of grass.

An arrangement of money plant and plum grass in a white pottery bowl, with a piece of white coral as an accessory, formed the striking and novel exhibit, which took second prize for the Atkins Park club.

Third prize was awarded the Habersham Garden Club for a copper bowl, with an arrangement of copper-colored dahlias, nandina, pyracantha and native hawthorne.

The flower arrangements of the 30 garden clubs, along with an attractive exhibit by the Camp Fire Girls, fill the entire lobby of the auditorium, the arena and stage being devoted to lavish exhibits by florists and nurserymen.

Exhibits circle the entire outer edge of the arena floor against a back wall of pine and cedar trees, while the arena itself is devoted to an immense landscape containing a variety of flower beds and rock gardens, probably the largest and most striking exhibit ever attempted in the south. The stage is devoted to an orchid exhibit with a tropical jungle for its setting.

3 CANDIDATES IN RACE FOR CUBAN PRESIDENCY

HAVANA, Nov. 7. — (AP) — The deadline on nominations for election day, December 15, ended today with three presidential candidates in the field.

The three were Miguel Mariano Gomez, former mayor of Havana, who heads the Action Republicana Liberal; Mario G. Menocal, twice president of the republic, and Carlos Manuel de Cespedes, head of the Partido Centrista Cubano (centrists).

Cuba's last election was held November 1, 1932, and was for municipal and provincial offices only. Part of the senators and representatives were elected November 1, 1931, and the last presidential election was November 1, 1928.

TWO MAIS MOBSTERS GIVEN EXECUTION STAY

HARRISBURG, Pa., Nov. 7. — (AP) — The pardon board announced a respite today for Martin Farrell and Francis Wiley, Philadelphia slayers, who were to have died in the electric chair at Rockview prison November 18.

They were granted a stay until December 2.

The men were sentenced to die for the kidnap-killing of William Weiss, Philadelphia night life character.

The two were identified as members of the tri-state gang, or "Mais mob," whose leader, Robert Mais, was executed in Virginia several months ago.

'SHARE-WEALTH' CHIEF SPURNS BORAH GROUP

BATON ROUGE, La., Nov. 7. — (AP) — Rev. Harold L. K. Smith, national organizer of "share-our-wealth" clubs, today said he had declined to become a leader of the executive council of the Senator William E. Borah presidential campaign committee.

The invitation was contained in a letter signed by R. C. Lauterback, of Chicago, who described himself as the chairman of the committee.

Florida Extradites 2.

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Nov. 7. — (AP) — Governor Sholtz today ordered the extradition of two men listed as P. R. Osborne and M. R. McKinstry to Santa Ana, Cal., to face charges of grand theft and violating the California corporation securities act.

ceptance of the soviet viewpoint. The United States was one of the nations which refused a direct loan to Russia.

"Capitalistic countries interested in the soviet market and development of economic relations with the U. S. S. R. have begun to realize it is necessary to grant us long-term financial credits or loans," Rosengoltz declared.

He stated that at the beginning of 1935 the soviet foreign indebtedness was only 139,000,000 rubles, compared to 1,400,000,000 in 1931, and promised that by the end of 1935 it would be reduced to 100,000,000 or 120,000,000 rubles.

He asserted 270,000,000 rubles in gold and other precious metals have been attracted to the government from within the country during the four-year operation of the "torgsin" stores.

These stores—which accept only precious metals and foreign currency in payment for choice clothing, groceries and other necessities—have practically served their purpose, Rosengoltz said, and will soon restrict their operations to dealings on the basis of money remittances from abroad.

Trade Balance.

He said the favorable trade balance of the U. S. S. R. at the end of 1935 probably will total 120,000,000 rubles. Last year the favorable balance was 185,000,000, and in 1931 there was an unfavorable balance of 293,000,000.

The foreign trade commissar also pointed out that Russia had increased its gold output to the extent that it is now led only by South Africa.

The communist international's executive committee issued an appeal to workers in countries throughout the world to join in forcing an end to the Italo-Ethiopian war, to protect China from invasion by Japan, to prevent a European war and destroy fascism.

Fascism Issue.

It stated: "The peoples of the world are thirsty for freedom from the yoke of capitalism. They are against imperialistic wars. They will never become reconciled to fascism."

It suggested that "proletarian masses of the world" should "follow the example of the workers of Russia who succeeded in overthrowing capitalism and establishing the soviet power."

The soviet union's frontiers in the far east and in Europe were guarded today by soldiers and officers wearing decorations of valor, as a part of the observance of the revolution's anniversary.

Russia also looked proudly at its "first soviet generation"—born in the first year after the revolution—50,000 of whom paraded in Moscow last night.

COX SPEAKS TONIGHT AT ATHENS MEETING

ATHENS, Ga., Nov. 7.—Preston M. Almond, chairman of the Clarke County Roosevelt Young Voters' Club, which will hold a meeting at the Georgian hotel at 8 o'clock tomorrow night, revealed tonight that 213 young supporters of the President in this community have already enrolled as members in the organization.

Chairman Almond said that interest in the organization of the Roosevelt Club here surpassed his expectations although he knew that the President was very popular in this community.

"We have made arrangements to accommodate everyone at the meeting," Mr. Almond said.

Congressman Eugene Cox, who will be the principal speaker at the meeting, arrived in Athens from Camilla this afternoon.

Potatoes became a staple crop in Europe as a result of the great famine of 1771.

The benefits of competition

No. 5 of a series of messages in the interest of better advertising

TO compete is one of the most natural human traits. As long as our race survives we will always have some form of competition. This means progress. Nearly every achievement worth mentioning came out of competitive effort.

In business we have what we now call the competitive system. This is really not a man-made system. Rather, it is the result of natural growth. In the several thousand years of social development there has been much of trial and error. That development will undoubtedly continue. But just now we seem to have the kind of system that will work best with human beings as they are.

Ever since the ancient beginnings of industry, progress has always been the result of men striving to do better than their neighbors. The man who could raise the healthiest cattle, the most luscious grapes, or the best crop of grain, received the greatest reward for his industry and intelligence. And so the science of agriculture was developed, although very slowly at first.

The weaver who learned how to make the best cloth prospered more than his competitors. Every ambitious cobbler used all his ingenuity to fashion shoes better than they had ever been made before. The leading artisans in every field were constantly busy devising ways to turn out better products than the others.

The results of these centuries of competitive striving are the modern industrial plants of today. Science and invention have made new processes possible, and the pressure of competition put them to work in industry. The greatest manufacturers have always before them the great objective of better goods, new products, and lower prices. Any weakening of this competitive urge would mean an immediate let-down, followed by stagnation of progress.

In modern business, competition comes to a head in the selling of merchandise. With the development of advertising, merchants and manufacturers have come to use this medium for display their wares to the public. The efforts to make better products and to sell them more cheaply have their final expression in advertising. The very desire to have a good article to advertise has often been responsible for improvements in the product.

It is truly said that advertising is the life and symbol of competition in business. Firms which compete honestly also advertise honestly. Fair competition is the only condition under which industry can continue its wonderful progress. In anything that may be done to regulate business practices, there must be no restraint upon constructive competition.

History shows us some cases where competition was abolished through the establishment of monopolies. In a very few industries this may be desirable, but in most other cases this has been bad for the public. When the incentive for improvement is removed, there can be no further progress. Control of production and prices is almost always disastrous, for this means the stoppage of competition.

Constructive competition is promoted through the use of good advertising. It stimulates manufacturer and dealer to redouble their efforts to provide the best that skill and ingenuity can produce.

Senator George Finds Enthusiasm Is High for Roosevelt Homecoming

Chairman of Congressional Delegation Reports Much Interest in State in Celebration To Be Staged in Atlanta on November 29.

VIENNA, Ga., Nov. 7.—Senator Walter F. George, senior United States Senator from Georgia, and chairman of the congressional delegation, official host for the Roosevelt homecoming celebration in Atlanta, announced today after visits by him and other members of the delegation to all sections of the state, that enthusiasm toward the Roosevelt celebration for November 29 was outstanding everywhere.

"The activities of the numerous organizations, whether social, commercial, patriotic or political," says Senator George, "have been noteworthy and their cooperation with the several committees appointed by the Roosevelt homecoming celebration headquarters is much appreciated." Senator George further stated that such activities have proved, and are proving, of material benefit and relieving the respective official committees for the celebration of much detail, as well as giving them active assistance.

Comment was made in Atlanta by E. C. Coker, chairman of the Roosevelt homecoming program, that in the local or other mechanical arrangements, certain of the organizations were calling on the public in some sections of the state for subscriptions and those preparing for the homecoming proper wish the public of the state to know that these subscriptions are for certain work that the respective local or state organizations are accomplishing for their particular clubs, and are not subscriptions for expense incident to the homecoming proper, or for the work of the National Democratic Committee, either within the state or throughout the nation.

STATE BRIEFS

Named Moderator. HARTWELL, Ga., Nov. 7.—Rev. R. E. Telford, a Presbyterian minister here, was named moderator of the Athens presidency at its fall session in Hart county.

Hardwick to Speak. SANDERSVILLE, Ga., Nov. 7.—Thomas W. Hardwick, a former governor and United States senator, has accepted an invitation to make the Armistice Day address at the World War veterans and their auxiliary in Burke county next Monday.

Gathers Many Relics. MARIETTA, Ga., Nov. 7.—(AP)—Roy Gann, whose relic collecting runs to war equipment, says he has at his home near Smyrna:

A muzzle-loader rifle fired by David Crockett, famed pioneer; a peace pipe once owned by Chief Sitting Bull; a rifle used by Pancho Villa; and a rifle used by the Wolfers of the Express Company in stage coach days.

Kennesaw WPA Project. MARIETTA, Ga., Nov. 7.—(AP)—Mayor L. C. Chalker, mayor of Kennesaw, said today the municipality will get a new jail and council room costing $1,000 through approval of a WPA project.

Singers to Meet. LAWRENCEVILLE, Ga., Nov. 7.—Singers of Gwinnett and surrounding counties will meet here at the First Baptist church Sunday afternoon. Professor and Mrs. Theodore Sisk, of Towns, and J. L. Moore, of Milledgeville, and other leaders will be here, according to Jewell Mahaffey, who has arrangements in hand.

W. M. U. Meets at Americus. AMERICUS, Ga., Nov. 7.—Approximately 700 persons are attending the Southwest Georgia Divisional Institute of the Woman's Missionary Union, now in session at the First Baptist church here. Mrs. Carter Wright, of Birmingham, delivered the opening address and Mrs. Raleigh White and Mrs. W. C. Little, of Milledgeville, were other prominent speakers on the opening day's program.

Congressman Cox to Speak. THOMASVILLE, Ga., Nov. 7.—Congressman E. E. Cox, of Camilla, will address the voters of Thomas county here next Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock, eastern time.

The congressman will speak on the AAA and other farm topics, and farmers and other citizens of this county and section are expected to be present to hear him.

Selected for Survey. WAYNESBORO, Ga., Nov. 7.—Burke is one of 16 counties in Georgia designated by federal and state health officials, in which a survey will be made, seeking information concerning the nature and suggested means of prevention of diseases prevalent in this county.

Carolina Prizes Won. HARTWELL, Ga., Nov. 7.—The Reid Creek community in Hart county was awarded the blue ribbon and $50, for the best booth at the Anderson county (South Carolina) fair, which closed Saturday. The Sanders community, another Hart county winner, brought second honors to Georgia. Six Georgia counties exhibited at the Carolina fair.

STATE DEATHS

WILLIAM H. CROWDER. BARNESVILLE, Ga., Nov. 7.—William Crowder, 59, died at his home here this morning, leaving a wife and several children. He was a native of Brooks county, but had lived in Barnesville 48 years.

Mr. Crowder was a member of Pluta Lodge No. 88 and of the First Methodist church. Survivors include his wife, who was Miss Mattie Pearl Fisher; one daughter, Mrs. Gerald Elliott, Barnesville; four sons, W. H. Ham, Lewis, George and Hugh, all of Barnesville; one grandson, Billy Barnesville; one brother, E. T. Crowder, Barnesville; three sisters, Mrs. O. W. Holland, Barnesville; Mrs. J. S. Taylor, Miami; Mrs. J. S. Bryan, Atlanta, and 16 nieces and nephews.

AMOS R. PITTMAN. WAYNESBORO, Ga., Nov. 7.—Amos R. Pittman, for many years a cigar manufacturer in Waycross, died at his home here yesterday after an extended illness. He was engaged in business here for a long period, his health having failed several years ago. He was a member of a prominent south Georgia family and a Mason.

Besides his wife, Mrs. C. C. Pittman, he is survived by four daughters, Mrs. D. E. Wilder, of Acree; Miss Frances Pittman, of Waycross; Mrs. E. J. Feltus, of Atlanta; and Mrs. J. E. McDaniel, of Atlanta.

Funeral services were held this afternoon at the First Methodist church, of which he was a member, conducted by the pastor, Rev. Leland Moore. Burial was in Lot 1 cemetery.

Roman Emperor Augustus decorated the walls of his villa in Capri with great fossil bones—which he believed were bones of human giants once inhabiting Italy.

FIVE MEN ARE FINED IN CHICOPEE FLOGGING

Other Three Defendants at Gainesville Acquitted in Agreed Verdict.

GAINESVILLE, Ga., Nov. 7.—(AP)—Five of the eight defendants in a case growing out of an attack on John Sneed, former time service expert at the closed Chicopee cotton mill, were given fines of $100 and suspended sentences of one year in jail today.

After an agreed verdict, which included the acquittal of the other three defendants, Judge Benjamin Gaillard Jr., told the men their sentences "would have been much heavier" had attorneys for both sides not reached the accord.

The men were charged with beating Sneed preceding the calling of a strike at the mill last August.

Those convicted were listed as Jeff Fowler, Dean Smith, Mood Allison, Thurston Simpson and Paul Morris, and those acquitted as Henry Delons, Max Hubbard and John Ogile.

All were former employees of the mill which was recently closed after M. T. Grimes, general manager, was beaten by a band of masked men.

Solicitor-General Robert McMillan announced the agreement on a verdict after lengthy conferences between attorneys in which Edgar B. Dunlap, attorney for the mill, took part.

The verdict was received joyfully by the five convicted men, and the courtroom crowd also appeared to be pleased.

Sneed had been a witness at the trial and had pointed out the men listed as Dean Smith and Paul Morris as members of the group that flogged him.

"Violence never settled anything," Judge Gaillard said as he passed sentence. "It always unsettles everything upon which it is attempted—that is an everlasting fact."

"Mr. Sneed was employed by an independent company, was working under orders just as you were, and you had no right to interfere."

"This community is not going to tolerate things of this kind, and will not permit them to pass unchallenged. Otherwise a state of anarchy would exist."

"The mill authorities are not acting in a spirit of revenge. They have not done anything except their plain duty. This compromise is being carried through to completion by agreement of all parties, and I will say now that otherwise your sentence would have been much heavier."

The trial opened yesterday.

ALEXANDER RHODES, 64, DIES AT ATHENS

ATHENS, Ga., Nov. 7.—(AP)—Alexander Rhodes, 64, business manager of the University of Georgia, died suddenly at his home here today. Death was attributed to a cerebral hemorrhage.

He was business manager of the old Georgia State Teachers' College for many years. When the college was made a unit of the university in 1932, he became business manager of the unified institution.

Born in Gordonsville, Va., March 25, 1871, he was educated at North Carolina State College. He was a member of the Presbyterian church.

In 1923, he married Mrs. Helen Pratt Griffin, of Decatur. Mrs. Rhodes is now dean of women at the university.

Resides his wife, a daughter, Sarah Stubbs Rhodes, survives.

All Lines of Business in Savannah Show Big Gain Over Previous Years

Bank Deposits Increase $6,000,000 in Year; $4,000,000 Paper Pulp Plant Under Construction; new $900,000 School Plant To Be Erected.

By KENNETH E. PALMER, The Savannah Evening Press. SAVANNAH, Ga., Nov. 7.—(AP)—All indices by which business is scored show conditions in Savannah are much improved. Private and public construction, either under way or assured, leads to the inescapable opinion that conditions will be even better.

Bank deposits, which bankers say best reflect business conditions, were $6,174,383 higher here in October than in October, 1934.

Postal receipts show an increase; public utilities report increasing business; and city building permits for 10 months this year were $22,623 more than last year. And this report does not show the construction going on in the county, which includes one job of $4,000,000, that of the Union Bag & Paper Corporation.

Construction of this plant at Savannah is well under way, erection of the structural steel having begun.

To Boost Trade. The Union Bag & Paper plant is expected by business authorities to be one of the most decisive factors of recent years for economic good, not alone in Savannah, but throughout the pine growing section of southeast Georgia and nearby South Carolina.

The plant will draw its raw materials, pine logs, from these sections, which means a ready cash crop for the timber owners.

It is also calculated that the success of the plant will attract other paper manufacturing plants to take advantage of the successful experience here of Dr. Charles H. Hertz in making paper from the pulp of pines.

A new $900,000 high school is to be built, the county having recently voted bonds to supply its 55 per cent of the cost and the other 45 per cent to be supplied by the PWA. This will give considerable work in the coming months to skilled and unskilled labor.

These bonds were voted in a joint bond election with the city. In the city election to supply its 55 per cent match $631,000 in PWA and WPA funds with which improvements will be made in the city, including paving, waterworks, sewers, etc.

Savannah is renowned as a shipping center for cotton and naval stores, and activities in these lines have increased noticeably. October was a record month for ships, setting a new high for the number entering and leaving the port. Exports of cotton and naval stores in the month of October a year ago.

It is expected the heavy cotton movement will continue. Windmills on Savannah's famous Factor's walk which in late years have been dark at night now are lighted to enable the employees to finish their work.

The Savannah Electric & Power Company has announced it is to spend $364,000 for plant additions to care for expected expansion in business. Consumption of kilowatt hours was reported increased. The Southern Bell Telephone & Telegraph Company reported a gain in the city of Savannah of 482 stations during the first 10 months of this year. Other business also reports increases.

Real estate authorities reported practically all distress property off the market. A new interest in property generally, and investment property is in greater demand, due they say, to hopes for passage of the 15-mill tax limitation.

Postal Receipts Gain. Postal receipts for October, 1935, were $38,622.22, an increase of $881.75 over October, 1934.

Bank debits were higher for October than since 1930, comparing with the other years as follows: This Oc-

REPUBLICAN FAVORS KNOX AND TALMADGE

BARNESVILLE, Ga., Nov. 7.—George Summers, prominent republican here, declares that he strongly favors Colonel Frank Knox, of Chicago, as candidate for president in 1936, and earnestly hopes Governor Talmadge will be nominated vice president of the United States on the same republican ticket.

"I hope," Mr. Summers added, "that my friends of the fourth district will elect me a delegate to the national republican convention next spring. I am working night and day for their interests and for the republican party."

The combination of Colonel Knox from the north and midwest, and Governor Talmadge from the south would make the republicans strong in the 1936 campaign, Summers asserted. Summers said he had received a letter from Knox saying he expected to visit Georgia after January 1.

In enjoining Colonel Knox, the Barnesville man said: "He should be given our wholehearted support, and it is my sincerest wish that Governor Talmadge may be nominated vice president on the same ticket."

THOMASTON CITIZEN KILLED IN ACCIDENT

THOMASTON, Ga., Nov. 7.—(AP)—One man was fatally injured, and two other men were injured, one seriously, in the crash of an automobile near here late yesterday.

Clarence (Buddy) Caldwell, 21, of Thomaston, died several hours after the car he was driving got out of control and was wrecked four miles north of here.

Porty Allen and Paul Fowler were injured. Allen is his brother. Roy, of Thomaston, with whom he lived, Joel, of Sanford, Fla.; Raymond, of Deland, Fla.; Lewis, of Dawson, and J. D. of Barnesville, and a sister, Mrs. William Bechefer, of Barnesville.

Funeral services will be held at Virgins cemetery tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock.

RED CROSS ROLL CALL IS PLANNED AT ATHENS

ATHENS, Ga., Nov. 7.—Organization plans of the Athens Red Cross roll call, which are being used by chapters throughout Georgia as the basis for their organization of the 19th annual Red Cross membership drive, are now complete, according to Fritz Thompson, chairman of the Athens and Clarke county roll call.

The Athens organization plan, originated last year, is unique in that it eliminates all general canvassing in the business district. For this reason, Chairman Thompson has been asked to present the Athens plan to other Red Cross chapters in Georgia. He is now making these presentations.

The Athens plan is founded on the idea of giving every individual an opportunity to join Red Cross. Businessmen and professions are grouped into their respective classifications. From each business classification a key man is appointed to contact every other proprietor in his group. The proprietor in turn delegates one of his leading employees to enroll his fellow workers.

In each professional group, a layman is also chosen to enroll fellow members of his particular profession. For every profession, a key man is appointed to contact every other member of the profession. Preston

M. Almond, Athens lawyer, is chairman.

Canvassing in the residential sections through workers and in the city schools through key teachers is conducted by the women's division. Mrs. Will Irwin, Athens, heads this division.

In the rural division a lay person is appointed in each militia district, and this person in turn appoints sufficient workers to make it possible for every individual in the rural sections of Clarke county to join. Dean Amis, Clark county, is chairman.

All negro citizens are contacted by workers appointed by the chairman of that division. James W. Davis, Athens, heads this division.

In Conjunction with The Atlanta Constitution Safety Council

During the Regular Performances Under the Auspices of the NATIONAL COURTESY WEEK ASSOCIATION

SPONSORED IN ATLANTA BY THE FOLLOWING FIRMS:

We, the undersigned citizens and firms of Atlanta, being cognizant of the terrible toll of lives and injuries sustained by our fellow citizens throughout the United States, attributed directly to careless and reckless automobile driving.

In co-operation with the National Courtesy Week Association, we sincerely desire to do all in our power to discourage recklessness on the road and promote sane and sensible operation of motor cars on our highways and streets.

With this object in view we herewith heartily sponsor and endorse the widespread showing of the motion picture film—"Obey Your Traffic Laws." We are of the opinion that the wide circulation of this most forceful film, emphasizing as it does the hazards of reckless driving, will do much to discourage carelessness on our streets and highways and save many lives.

NOW...REAL Schlitz DRAUGHT FLAVOR

IN THE CAN THAT OPENS LIKE A BEER BOTTLE!

SOME people have funny ideas about canned beer. They think all brands are alike. We know differently. And to any who doubt it, we simply say: SEE...SMELL...TASTE the difference. Just TRY SCHLITZ LAGER!

Look at this clear, brilliant beer as it stands against the light in your glass. First quality by the very way it carries its aristocratic head. Now...hold the glass to your nose and inhale that fresh fragrance...Then, taste that true and delicious DRAUGHT FLAVOR!

No other canned beer exactly like this...of course not, for this one is brewed and lagered and packed by Schlitz! And from brewery to your hand the Cap-Sealed Can (lined throughout like a Schlitz barrel) preserves good looks, good bouquet, and that good draught flavor.

Just try SCHLITZ LAGER...know how delicious canned beer really should be.

NEW SCHLITZ CAP-SEALED CAN OFFERS YOU THESE ADVANTAGES

- Brewery lined—like Schlitz draught beer barrels.
- Safe—no sharp tools needed to open; no raw edges.
- Clean—the outside of the can is not punched into the beer.
- Opens like a beer bottle. Pours perfectly.
- No deposits. No empties to return. Used once, thrown away.
- Cools quickly. Takes up little space.
- Holds 12 ounces—same as famous Schlitz Brown Bottles.
- Protects the real draught flavor of SCHLITZ LAGER...from the brewery to your glass.

GERMANY TO PREVENT
PROFITING BY WARBerlin Spokesman Explains Normal Trade Is Desired.

BERLIN, Nov. 7.—(AP)—Germany with an arms embargo already in effect against Italy and Ethiopia, announced today she would take steps to prevent war profiteering.

"We are willing to halt extraordinary purchases of foodstuffs, but we hope to go on with normal trade," explained a foreign office spokesman.

"Germany definitely will not act the part of a war profiteer in the Italian-Ethiopian conflict," said the spokesman.

"Diplomatic relations with Italy are normal," said the spokesman.

"To do so would be contrary to her declared policy, which is directed by a full sense of responsibility and a desire for peace."

This policy was communicated to the League of Nations yesterday by the German consul at Geneva.

The foreign office spokesman said measures would be adopted to prevent speculation in foodstuffs. He explained:

"First, Germany does not want to profit of the war; second, we have no foodstuffs to sell abroad; we are neutral in the war; third, we are not siding with the League nor with Italy."

"The German decision was welcomed in Geneva," asserted the spokesman. "The economic side of Italy would be seriously weakened if she got boycott goods through the reich."

"Germany must endeavor to keep her normal trade with other nations at the same time cover her domestic needs, but this does not detract from the principles laid down above. Germany sees no need to subsidize the Geneva proposal because she is no longer in the League."

It was asserted that Germany immediately upon the outbreak of the war placed an embargo on war material exports to both belligerents, long before the League started action.

"The German News Agency asserted: 'Should an increase in exports of raw materials and foodstuffs become so abnormal as to menace the economic interests of internal Germany, the government will take adequate preventive measures.'"

VOTING HELD SIGNAL FOR FURIOUS CAMPAIGN

Deal, conceded the election today to Chandler, who appeared for votes as a Roosevelt follower, there were indications that his final plurality might reach 100,000.

This would constitute a modern record in the Blue Grass state. Further, Chandler's election broke a 40-year trend of alternating republicans and democrats in the governor's chair.

Unofficially, some at republican headquarters conceded that the election had demonstrated President Roosevelt maintained an impressive personal prestige.

At the same time, however, they noted as significant signs the republican assemblies in New York, the increased majority in the New Jersey assembly and the Pennsylvania returns. Further, mention was made of a tabulation early today that despite heavy general pluralities in New York and Kentucky, the incomplete returns at that time showed republicans casting 3,766,884 votes to 3,909,474 democratic ballots.

In addition, a republican spokesman called attention to a comparison between Tuesday's election in New York and the gubernatorial election there a year ago. In that election they emphasized that Mr. Roosevelt entered the lists as a champion of Governor Lehman. Lehman's election by a vote of 2,177,962 to 1,363,690 for Moses.

G. O. P. Claims New York.

In Tuesday's election an incomplete total of democratic votes for the assembly were 2,047,210 against 1,670,477 for republican candidates. On this basis, republican headquarters claimed that the Lehman plurality of 814,732 of a year ago had been cut to 360,000.

This republican spokesman said, represented a 50 per cent cut in Roosevelt popularity.

"Roosevelt still has a plurality in New York, but this has undergone a 50 per cent decrease," said one at republican headquarters.

"This proportion of decrease in one year more than encourages our hopes."

On the other hand, the democrats contended that if the personal issue of President Roosevelt as a candidate for office had been presented to the voters, the result would have been a much larger popular plurality for him.

"Every return indicates a larger vote for the New Deal than would have been cast six weeks or two months ago," it was claimed at democratic headquarters.

CHANDLER REITERATES
SUPPORT OF F. D. R.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 7.—(AP)—Elected governor of Kentucky by a democratic landslide majority, A. B. Chandler, beaming the smile that gave him the nickname "Happy," reiterated today his promises to repeal the state sales tax, cut governmental costs and "uphold the hands" of President Roosevelt.

As returns from 3,111 of the state's 4,219 precincts boosted Chandler's lead to 77,061, his republican opponent, King Swope, conceded defeat. The vote was Chandler 414,770 and Swope 337,700. Final returns were expected to give Chandler a record majority since reconstruction days in a state race.

Kentuckians by large margins amended their constitution to permit old age pensions, repealed the 16-year-old state prohibition amendment and elected a democratic legislature. The vote, with 2,793 precincts tabulated, was 406,124 to 44,375 for old age pensions; 2,793 to 1,207 for repeal of prohibition; and 2,793 to 1,207 for election of a democratic legislature.

Coming here from Versailles home, with his wife and four children, he heard the returns. The 37-year-old lieutenant governor planned a "people's inauguration" at Frankfort next month. Chandler said he and Lieutenant Governor-elect Keen Johnson, young Richmond publisher, who with the rest of the democratic ticket was swept into office, agreed "they will not be any high hats or striped pants for us."

Governor-elect Chandler prepared to drop out his program to reorganize the state government along more economical lines. As his model, he took the Virginia plan under Governor Harry F. Byrd. He announced he would effect a saving of $1,000,000 and recommend changes in government. Fewer state agencies, he said, would effect a saving of $1,000,000 annually. He said he would put the state on a pay-as-you-go basis.

A militant foe of the sales tax championed by Governor Ruby Laffoon, Chandler, demanding repeal of the law, overcame Laffoon's powerful organization in the democratic primary by defeating Thomas S. Rhea. Rhea and Laffoon belted the head of the ticket but failed to stop the vote-getting drive of the smiling, hand-shaking Chandler, who told of his fight against poverty to a group of education.

Swope's Congratulations.

"Please accept my cordial congratulations on your election," Judge Swope telegraphed Chandler at democratic headquarters here. In a statement at Lexington Swope said: "I made a clean, hard fight for economy in government and what I conceived to be the proper approach to the problems of Kentucky, making no promises impossible of performance or any assertions I was not prepared to prove." He said he "cheerfully" accepted the outcome of Tuesday's election.

Swope, who campaigned on state issues, refrained from discussion of national questions. Enthusiastic in his praise for Roosevelt, Chandler contended Swope's election "would be a setback to Hooverism" and charged that despite Swope's silence, republican national leaders concentrated on Kentucky to win the governorship and hail a republican victory as a slap at the New Deal.

SETTLEMENT IS SEEN

gram and it is anticipated he will recommend its acceptance at the conference this morning. When the government had failed to commit itself regarding payment of service charges, the mayor directed that the properties be treated as if they were located outside the city limits and water bills at double the rate sent to Atlantans were sent, as is done to persons served by the city if their properties lie outside the city limits.

The service charges will be for police, fire, sanitary, school and other advantages which the city will furnish citizens living in the completed properties.

The Class letter recites that housing officials were willing to make immediate payments to the city, but were stopped because J. R. McCarl, comptroller, refused to honor the requisitions. It recited the introduction of the bill in the last session of the congress by Senator Walter F. George of Georgia, to make such payments legal.

It also told that the housing division can not obligate itself for service payments until the enabling legislation has been approved by congress, but asserted the mayor that if such enabling legislation is passed, "the housing division will undertake to pay the city of Atlanta as a service charge, in lieu of taxes, an amount equal to the five per cent of the gross rentals derived from the operation of such projects."

Avenues of Fashion with Esquire

A BRIEF FOR FASHION.

Men, whose success depends upon their ability to secure the confidence of others, are well aware of the part that proper appearance plays. The suit of our legal friend, from the clear-cut broken herringbone patterned worsted to the long rolling lapel of the model, bespeaks careful choice, good taste and current fashion. With accessories described below, the excellent result is neither an over-studied ensemble or too obvious conservatism.

WHITE COLLAR

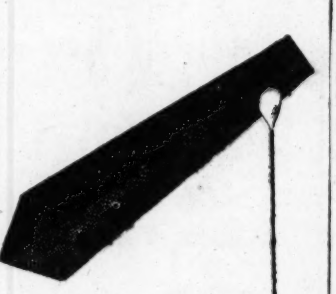

Deep colored or definitely striped shirts, such as the one shown, are worn to excellent advantage with a white starched collar. More than ever—men are appreciating the effect of this latter detail of dress.

PEARL STICKPIN

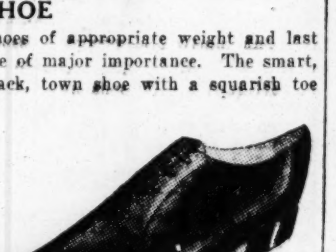

Ties, of rich somber shades of repp or satin, are worn to advantage with this shirt and collar. A small pearl stick-pin serves as relief for the deep shading of the tie.

APPROPRIATE SHOE

Shoes of appropriate weight and last are of major importance. The smart, black, town shoe with a squarish toe

FINISHING TOUCHES

A handkerchief of white linen, with a harmonious colored border, gives the necessary finished appearance to the breast pocket. A walking stick of black bamboo, is an accessory that adds to a smart appearance.

HOMBURG HAT—GUARDS COAT

Current fashion calls for a Homburg hat of black or midnight blue. It is in keeping with the other details of this outfit.

WHITE GLOVES

Gloves of white buckskin or chamois serve not only as a protective covering against the weather, but contrast smartly with both the Guards coat and Homburg hat.

SAFETY IS PLEDGED
THROUGHOUT GEORGIA

drivers and chauffeurs in the firm's employ.

Class Nine, High One, of Bass Junior High school, Atlanta, wrote, through Marion Lowe, stating that the civics class wished to put on a safety drive in the school and asked for safe driving pledges to sign. Fifty blank pledges were furnished the class to carry out their self-expressed ambition to "make Atlanta a safer city."

Then there was the "Out-of-Doors Country-Day School," at 1007 Oakdale road, which wrote to say that it is co-operating in many ways.

Never Too Early.

Pupils at this school range from 18 months to 6 years in age but the five teachers believe it is never too early to start inculcating the lessons of safety. They are, therefore, teaching the children to use the proper hand signals for turns and stops when using wheel toys. In the playground they are using red and green and amber traffic signals in their play, so that as they grow older they will know, instinctively, how to obey.

Then each little pupil is taught to cut out the blank safe driving pledge in The Constitution each morning and get their parents or some friend who drives a car to sign it.

At last, when they get all the pledges signed, they plan to bring them to the Constitution in person and get the little red stickers so they can themselves attach them to the windshields and rear windows of the cars.

Cordele Body Bands Drive.

And the Lions Club of Cordele, commending the campaign in highest terms, wrote asking for a supply of pledge blanks and stickers to further advance the cause, in which they are co-operating 100 per cent, in their own community.

In addition to all these groups, more than a score of individual motorists brought or sent their signed pledges to the Constitution.

White Collar Protest.

The meeting of the white collar workers for organization next Monday night was called after a delegation of the Georgia Federation of Labor, Ramoek at his offices in the old postoffice building, protesting against the change of white collar workers, who were being cared for under the FERA with white collar jobs, to jobs as sewer diggers under the WPA.

Congressman Ramoek is reported to have made the delegation he would try to help them. He left yesterday for New York and will go to Washington at the end of this week.

The white collar workers have been numerous among the complainants who have visited WPA offices since the FERA was abandoned and the announcement made that no one is on relief, but all are working at productive jobs.

The transfer of FERA workers to WPA in state has created most of the discontent in Atlanta. The WPA jobs were not ready, it was charged, when the FERA was abandoned and many persons who had been receiving relief have been facing the prospect of several weeks' wait without income until projects could be started to produce jobs.

Enforced Vacation.

A protest against this enforced vacation without funds was voted at Tuesday night's mass meeting.

It was to relieve this condition that more than 1,000 workers were brought to WPA offices in South Pryor street yesterday to receive a $3 cash advance to meet expenses. From the hundreds who crowded to the paymaster's window yesterday to receive this dole came protests that no one is on relief, but all are working at productive jobs.

Late last night Federation President Nance was checking with the telegraph company to get an official acknowledgment of the delivery of his telegram of protest to FERA Executive Jacob Baker at Washington on Wednesday warning him a strike is certain next Tuesday if Miss Shepperson has not met the demands of the workers.

Awaits Notification.

Mr. Baker later Wednesday afternoon declared in Washington he had not received the telegram. Mr. Nance's check with the telegraph company showed the message had been delivered at 2:17 P. M. Wednesday, but he is awaiting now official notification of the delivery.

Miss Shepperson yesterday still remained barricaded within her office, refusing any comment on the approaching strike while reports were general that WPA officials here are confident the majority of workers do not approve of the strike voted Tuesday night. It was also rumored no action would be taken, but that the strength of the protesting element among the workers will be tested by making an issue of the strike.

Italian exports in 1934 were only worth $225,000,000, largely with sanctionist countries, so there still remains the problem of developing more trade in those countries, from which Italy will continue to buy.

Industrial leaders here believe the whip of sanctions will be certain to develop better manufacturing in Italy so she can offer better goods at lower prices.

On the military side, a new decree called corporals of the infantry, artillery, engineering and other corps of the military classes from 1900 to 1910 into service.

An official communique from General Emilio De Bono, commander of the northern armies, announced an Italian advance along the whole front.

Wage rates have been adjusted for WPA by a three-man board comprising Mr. Hoffman, who represents the business and industrial interests of Atlanta; R. L. McDougall, assistant administrator of the WPA, and Thomas J. Elder, vice president of the Atlanta Federation of Trades, representing labor.

This board has not been called into conference since the present labor crisis developed, but yesterday Mr. Hoffman said:

"I do not think the prevailing wage for the workers is too high."

"I am positive $30 a month for the unskilled workers is too low."

"No so-called skilled worker, who is not a job, could hope to keep his family on the $33-a-month scale that is paid this type of worker."

"I don't believe that is the issue. I feel that $33 a month or $30 a month is too little to give a man who has a family to feed."

"I believe that Harry Hopkins, the WPA administrator, should see that something is done in Atlanta to strike a man with this family situation."

"I believe that Miss Gay B. Shepperson, the Georgia administrator, is conscientiously doing her best to solve a difficult problem. She is trying to distribute what money is given to her among as many families as possible."

"I believe that A. Steve Nance, of the Georgia Federation of Labor, is a fair-minded man who is doing his utmost to solve a difficult question in a peaceable way and to keep peace among the workers of this state."

"But something should be done for these people—quickly."

The meeting of the white collar workers for organization next Monday night was called after a delegation of the Georgia Federation of Labor, Ramoek at his offices in the old postoffice building, protesting against the change of white collar workers, who were being cared for under the FERA with white collar jobs, to jobs as sewer diggers under the WPA.

Congressman Ramoek is reported to have made the delegation he would try to help them. He left yesterday for New York and will go to Washington at the end of this week.

The white collar workers have been numerous among the complainants who have visited WPA offices since the FERA was abandoned and the announcement made that no one is on relief, but all are working at productive jobs.

The transfer of FERA workers to WPA in state has created most of the discontent in Atlanta. The WPA jobs were not ready, it was charged, when the FERA was abandoned and many persons who had been receiving relief have been facing the prospect of several weeks' wait without income until projects could be started to produce jobs.

Late last night Federation President Nance was checking with the telegraph company to get an official acknowledgment of the delivery of his telegram of protest to FERA Executive Jacob Baker at Washington on Wednesday warning him a strike is certain next Tuesday if Miss Shepperson has not met the demands of the workers.

Miss Shepperson yesterday still remained barricaded within her office, refusing any comment on the approaching strike while reports were general that WPA officials here are confident the majority of workers do not approve of the strike voted Tuesday night. It was also rumored no action would be taken, but that the strength of the protesting element among the workers will be tested by making an issue of the strike.

GEORGIA GONE OFF DOLE

HARRY HOPKINS ANNOUNCES

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—(AP)—Georgia's formal passing from the dole was announced today by Harry I. Hopkins, works progress administrator.

The state has received its last allotment for relief, said the administrator, and henceforth employables formerly on relief—still unable to get and he entered the case as counsel for Dr. Ferd Lautenbach, Baltimore dentist and stockholder in the company.

Burco, Inc., then entered the case as defendant.

SECURITIES COMMISSION SILENT ON RULING

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—(AP)—The securities commission had no formal comment today on Judge Coleman's decision that the holding company act is unconstitutional, but officials said they had expected an adverse decision in that court.

The commission has asserted the case was a result of collusion and that there was no real controversy. The government was not a party legally to the suit, although it filed briefs as a "friend of the court."

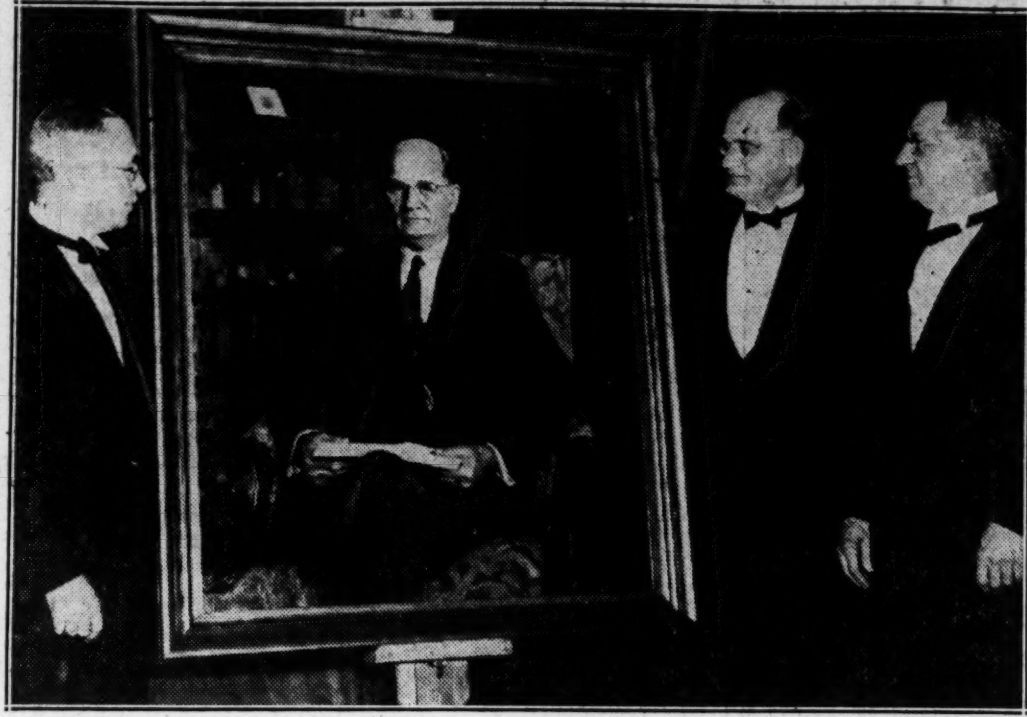

The question of whether the government has the right of appeal was confused. One official suggested it was likely that an appeal would be taken by the holding company.

The holding company act, provides, basically, for reorganization of the utility industry, with the elimination of most widespread holding companies. Such reorganization and elimination would commence some time after January 1, 1938, following findings by the securities commission, which administers the act, that certain companies were uneconomic and against the public interest.

Provisions of Act.

The act provides that all holding companies must register with the commission, in a preliminary form by December 1; fully, at a date not yet set. Each company must give full data about its operations and extent

Principals at the presentation of the portrait of Dr. Harvey W. Cox, for the last 15 years president of Emory University, are shown above. Left to right are Dean Goodrich C. White, of the school of liberal arts; Dr. Cox, and Will D. Thomson, executive vice president of the board of trustees of the university, grouped around the portrait, which was painted by David Silvetti. The painting was given as a part of the centennial celebration of the founding of Emory by members of the faculty and administrative staff. Staff photo by Turner Hiers.

so as to enable the commission to judge whether it is too expensive.

Analysis of the data would, in some instances, lead to application of what has been called the "death sentence," and utility interests have complained the act meant elimination of most holding companies.

Integrated companies—meaning companies operating in a well-defined area—would be exempted, as would be purely investment companies. The commission has wide powers under the act, however, to define what a holding company is, so that it is virtually impossible to state what companies would be banned.

Enforcement of the act depends largely on forbidding the use of the mails. Such use of the mail power was a major point of attack in the Baltimore case.

Read Is Silent.

Although Solicitor-General Stanley Reed refused to discuss the Baltimore decision holding the utilities act unconstitutional, other high government attorneys said today the government would not be able to appeal the case.

The government appeared in the case only as "a friend of the court," they explained, and not as an interested party. Appeal from the decision, by which the case would be headed toward a supreme court test, they said, would have to come from the losing party in the Baltimore suit.

FRISCO MARKET GAINS ON BALTIMORE RULING

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 7.—(AP)—Utility stocks on the local exchanges responded quickly to the decision in Baltimore today by Federal District Judge William C. Coleman that the public utility holding company act of 1935 was unconstitutional and advances of fractions to 3 points were registered shortly after the decision became known.

Trading at noon was heavy and well above the New York closing prices.

American Telephone sold at 149, 3 points above the eastern closing. Heaviest trading was in Electric Bond & Share, which was going over 350 tape in large lots, nearly 3 points above the New York close, and in Pacific Lighting. The latter shot up to 37 1/2.

Pacific Gas was at 31 1/4. North American, Southern California Edison, Cities Service and Consolidated Gas, all fractions to a point or more above New York.

UTILITY STOCKS GAIN FOLLOWING DECISION

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 7.—(AP)—The court decision, following the Wall Street close, was credited with the following changes:

Stock	N. Y. Close	S. F.
Elec. Bond & Share	345.50	$19.12
Pacific Lighting	350	57.00
United Corp.	148 1/2	7.00
North American	148 1/2	28.25
American Telephone	149	149.75
Pacific Gas	31 1/4	31.00
Sou. Cal. Edison	350	26.87
Cities Service	350	3.50

More than a score of stocks reached new recovery highs on the stock exchange. A number performed likewise over the curb.

Transamerica went into new high regions for the recovery, though with less pounce than yesterday. It reached $10.75, up 50 cents, with 32,600 shares traded.

PREHISTORIC ANIMAL'S BONES DUG UP IN WYO.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—(UP)—Discovery of an almost complete skeleton of a coryphodon, clumsy elephant-bear that roamed Wyoming's Big Horn basin some 10,000,000 years ago, was announced tonight by the Smithsonian Institution.

The skeleton, still encased in rock, is one of the first obtained representing a complete individual of this extinct species, which died out because it was unable to adapt itself to changes in the environment. Previously scientists have had to reconstruct the ancient mammal from scattered bones discovered at various times.

The fossil was found by Charles W. Gilmore, curator of vertebrate paleontology of the United States National Museum.

The coryphodon had characteristics of both the present-day bear and elephant; its front feet are elephant-like, and it had tusks, a tail, but in appearance it somewhat resembled a bear.

Roll Call Planned.

WAYNESBORO, Ga., Nov. 7.—Frank S. Palmer, county chairman, announces completed plans for Red Cross roll call in Burke, as he names community committeemen to aid in the drive. Rev. J. R. Sloan, pastor of the Presbyterian church, and Mrs. J. R. Palmer are appointees for Waynesboro.

Government scientists are investigating the so-called sulphur sponge, a pest that bores into shells of oysters and stunts their growth.

Judge's Summary Of Utility Opinion

BALTIMORE, Nov. 7.—(AP)—Judge William C. Coleman's summary of his opinion today holding the Federal Utility Holding Company act unconstitutional follows:

"1. The question as to the validity of the public utility act has been directly and properly raised. There has been no collusion between the parties. There is a real and not a fabricated conflict of parties and interests. There is nothing premature about the proceedings. On the contrary, there is an actual, pressing need for a prompt ruling upon the act's validity, because of the fast approaching date when the act, with its multifarious, drastic requirements, becomes effective, and because until such ruling is had, it cannot be determined whether the pending reorganization proceedings are a utility, or should be progressed to a conclusion as this court has directed.

Invalid in Entirety.

"2. The public utility act is invalid in its entirety for the following reasons:

"(a) Congress, by its enactment has flagrantly exceeded its lawful power under the commerce clause of the constitution in that the provisions of the act are, neither by their express language nor by any reasonable implication, capable of being restricted to the regulation of public utility holding companies and their subsidiaries or affiliates, when engaged in interstate commerce or in transactions that directly affect or burden interstate commerce. The act aims to regulate virtually everything that such companies do, intrastate as well as interstate. All of the companies before the court are embraced within the act's provisions, although none of them does any interstate business, or is engaged in any interstate business that directly affects or burdens interstate business.

"The theory upon which the act is predicated is that public utility holding companies and their subsidiaries are affected with 'national public interest.' But, under the constitution, there is no 'national public interest' which permits of federal regulation, unless the person, corporation or thing affected with such interest is, in fact, involved directly, or indirectly, in some activity over which the federal government, through one or more of the powers delegated to it by the constitution, has jurisdiction. If the constitution be construed to permit what the public utility act aims to accomplish, then federal authority would embrace practically all the activities of the people and the authority of the states over their domestic concerns would exist only by sufferance of the federal government.

Mail Denial Unlawful.

"B. Congress, by its enactment, has exceeded its lawful authority under the postal power granted to congress by the constitution, in that the act arbitrarily and unreasonably denies completely the use of the mails to all persons, and corporations embraced within the act with respect to all of their activities, as a means of compelling compliance with the act's requirements, regardless of whether any particular use of the mails for any particular thing mailed, is in fact of such character as reasonably to warrant exclusion. That is, the exclusion bears no relation necessarily to the use itself, but to the user of the mails.

"C. Congress, by its enactment, has flagrantly violated the requirements of due process of law under the fifth amendment to the constitution in that many of the act's provisions are grossly arbitrary, unreasonable and capricious, because of the penalties which they impose for non-registration with the Securities and Exchange Commission; the restraints upon the issuance and acquisition of securities, etc.; the regulations and prohibitions with respect to service, sales and construction contracts; the taking over of virtually the entire management of the affairs of the companies embraced by the act; and the elimination or simplification of holding company systems.

No Part Survives.

"D. The invalid provisions of the act, in spite of its separability clause, are so multifarious and so intimately and repeatedly interwoven throughout the act as to render them incapable of separation from such parts of the act, if any, as otherwise might be valid. The court can not rewrite the statute and give it an effect altogether different from that necessarily produced by its provisions viewed as a whole. Invalid parts of a law may be dropped only if what is retained is properly operative as a law. In the public utility act, invalid provisions are the rule, rather than the exception. If dissection is attempted, scarcely a clause survives, save, perhaps, the preamble.

"3. The question whether congress, by the act, has also unlawfully delegated to the Securities and Exchange Commission, with establishing adequate and intelligent standards to guide and assist it, the legislative power to determine when and to what persons and corporations the act shall apply, has not been considered by the court, because unnecessary in view of the other grounds upon which the court rests its decision."

COLUMBIA RESIGNS FROM U. S. CHAMBER

COLUMBIA, S. C., Nov. 7.—(AP)—William Lykes, secretary of the Columbia Chamber of Commerce, announced tonight that the organization had resigned from the United States Chamber of Commerce of the United States because of its "anti-New Deal proclivities."

"The board of directors, by a unanimous vote of those present," Lykes said, "has passed a resolution resigning from the United States Chamber of Commerce because of its anti-New Deal proclivities."

"The resignation has been sent in and accepted by D. A. Skinner, secretary of the United States Chamber of Commerce."

Being far-sighted does not mean having superior vision for distant objects; but merely that the individual can see them better than he can see objects close to his eye.

Police Reporter Weds In Police Department

The marriage on September 6 of Miss Margaret Lee Estes, of Chicago and Los Angeles, to Riley McKoy, police reporter of The Constitution, was announced last night. The former Miss Estes is the daughter of Dr. W. G. Estes, of Lynch, Ky. Mr. McKoy is the son of Dr. L. F. McKoy, of Rome, Ga.

The couple last night revealed they were married in September in the office of the county police department, with several close friends witnessing the ceremony. Louis H. Crawford, former United States district marshal, acted as best man.

MISS FANNIE OWENS, DALLAS CITIZEN, DIES

DALLAS, Ga., Nov. 7.—Funeral services will be held here, probably Saturday, for Miss Fannie Owens.

83, who died suddenly tonight in Atlanta at the home of a relative, Mrs. J. H. Pilgrim, on Pulliam street. She is survived by one brother, E. H. Owens, of Dallas, with whom she made her home.

Funeral plans will be announced later by Lee Brothers, local morticians.

Unusual Place Cards Inspire Scrap Books for Season's Debs

SCRAPBOOKS are quite in order with this year's debutante club, especially since those entertaining the club have had such unusual and attractive favors and place cards. At the lovely luncheon given by Mrs. Stuart Witham and Mrs. D. C. Black for Eleanor Spalding, the unique place cards were mountain girls made of corn shucks to fit in with the harvest decorations of the table, and the centerpieces were of colorful autumn flowers brightened by mounds of richly tinted fruits.

Mrs. Black was ill and had the misfortune of missing her own party, which was one of the loveliest given this season, but the "hill billy" debutantes holding the tiny name cards were quite an added attraction to the affair.

At Mrs. J. B. McCrary's seated tea for Joyce Smith, the place cards were tiny fans to keep the debbies cool, and "Mae Westlie" looking ladies with real feathers on their hats and blondined yarn for hair. Everyone wondered why Sarah Kenan made such a late appearance until she explained that she had been trying to press the corn-shuck "hillbilly" lady into her scrapbook. She had been sitting on it for hours.

When Mrs. J. O. Wynn entertained at luncheon at the Driving Club recently for Elizabeth Wilcox, each debbie received a most pleasant and unexpected gift in the form of a French print indicating styles in dress for the fashionable lady from 1790 to 1900. Mrs. Wynn was so fascinated with these attractive pictures that when she saw them in a French shop in New Orleans, she couldn't resist bringing the entire collection home. Only the present Debutante Club could have induced her to part with them.

AMONG the Atlantans who went to New York to witness the recent Baer-Louis fight were Mr. and Mrs. Gus Dodd and their sons-in-law, Quil Orme and Bill Satterthwaite. It seems that the four were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen A. Lynch at their home at the Sherry-Netherlands during their stay and every thought possible was given to their entertainment and pleasure. Mrs. Lynch, you know, is the former Julia Dodd, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dodd, and one of the most popular members Atlanta society has ever known.

Mrs. Lynch is also a very charming and a very careful hostess, and she never overlooks the slightest detail of her guests' comfort. Accordingly, when she went to the station to meet the Atlantans, she took along the head porter at the Sherry-Netherlands, in order that there might be no confusion about their luggage. She had previously had rooms prepared at the hotel, a suite for her parents, and another for her brothers-in-law, to whom she referred as "the boys."

So it was quite natural that the major-domo who accompanied her to the train should expect to see two young boys—at least in their teens. When Bill and Quil disembarked, he paid no attention to them, not dreaming, of course, that they were Mrs. Lynch's guests.

After collecting Mr. and Mrs. Dodd's bags, he stood respectfully at attention until Mrs. Lynch gave the signal to go. Then he seemed non-plussed and somewhat dis-friends. She is slender and graceful and has enjoyed the advantages of wide travel both in this country and in Europe.

The future bridegroom is a scion of one of Atlanta's most prominent families and has been a popular figure at affairs of the younger set.

Agnes Lee U. D. C. Meets Today.

Agnes Lee Chapter, U. D. C., meets this afternoon at 3 o'clock in the chapter house on Avery street, in Decatur. Mrs. J. H. Allison, president of the chapter, will preside and reports will be heard from the officers and the delegates who attended the Savannah convention.

The hostess committee has arranged an Armistice Day program, as follows: Vocal solo, Miss Mary Cunningham, accompanied at the piano by her mother, Mrs. R. B. Cunningham; address, Captain Allen L. Benson, director of the Georgia pension bureau; talk, Miss Moina Michael, known as the "poppy lady." During the social hour tea will be served by the hostess committee.

For Miss Jones.

Miss Susan Baker Jones, lovely bride-elect whose marriage to Edward Medlock will be a social event of December 7, was the honor guest yesterday at the bridge-ten given by Mrs. Robert Medlock at her home on Frederica street. Present were Misses Jones, Scott Meador, Elinor Smith, Ruth Curry, Elizabeth Whitten, Clare Harnett, Harriett Ann Baylor, Mesdames John Moody, Frank Davis, John Binnis, O. B. Chatfield, James Williams and Allan Post.

Judge Virlyn B. Moore To Speak To Women Lawyers on Monday

Judge Virlyn B. Moore, of the superior court, will be guest speaker at the meeting of the Georgia Association of Women Lawyers, to be held on Monday evening at 6 o'clock at the Henry Grady hotel with Mrs. Marvin W. Medlock, the president, presiding.

Judge Moore is a speaker of note, and his subject will be "Emancipation of Women," embodying phases that will interest women lawyers. He will be introduced by Miss Edgarda Horton, vice president.

Legion Auxiliary Post Conducts Poppy Sale On November 12

The American Legion Auxiliary of Atlanta Post No. 1 will conduct its annual poppy drive on November 12. Mrs. Arthur H. Hazzard, the chairman, and Mrs. George L. Baker, the co-chairman, have secured the support and co-operation of Atlanta's civic and patriotic organizations in this worthy cause.

The poppies to be offered for sale were made by disabled World War veterans in military hospitals in Georgia. The entire proceeds derived from the sale of these little red flowers will be turned over to the Legion to finance its relief program among ex-service men and their families.

Among the prominent women sponsoring this humanitarian work are Mrs. Eugene Talmadge, the first lady of the state; Mesdames Boyce Fitch, Jr., Hugh Dorsey, A. McD. Wilson, John M. Slaton Sr., Harry G. Foulke Sr., Trammell Scott, Hugh Howell, Paul J. McGovern, James L. Dickson, William Healey, Thomas K. Glenn, John K. Otley, David Marx Sr., Alonzo Richardson, Preston Arkwright Sr., Samuel Inman, Harry Atkinson, Claude C. Smith, Robert L. Cooney, Robert F. Maddox, W. A. Speer, Jr., Mardock Walker, R. G. Hastings, Hal Hente, John S. Spalding, R. K. Ransom, William Prescott, H. Warner Martin, W. F. Melton, Max Land, Willard Leach, Spencer Atkinson, Warren D. White, E. V. Carter, Allen Hanson, Asa Warren Candler, R. M. Boykin, A. P. Treadwell, John Slaton Jr., R. A. Garner, Henry Sanford, Joseph Hirsch, Lee Ashcraft, Clark Howell Sr., George Ripley, Misses Moira Michael, of Athens, and Ella Lee Cobb.

Buffet Supper.

Dr. and Mrs. Walter Holmes were hosts at a buffet supper last evening at their home on Montgomery Ferry drive in compliment to Miss Emily Walker and Temperance S. Davis Jr., whose marriage takes place on Saturday. The rooms where the guests assembled were attractively decorated with autumn flowers. The hosts were assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Preston Stevens. The guests included a group of the honor guests' close friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Roby Robinson

Mr. and Mrs. Roby Robinson Jr. were photographed as they left the rectory of St. Patrick's cathedral in New York city after their marriage on November 6. Mrs. Robinson is the former Miss Louise Phinizy Calhoun, lovely daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Calhoun, and the namesake of her paternal grandmother, Mrs. Abner W. Calhoun. Mr. Robinson and his bride reach Atlanta on Sunday, and will be prominent acquisitions to the young married contingent of society. They are representatives of distinguished and socially prominent families. Associated Press photo.

Miss McGarity Weds H. F. Summerour.

MARIETTA, Ga., Nov. 7.—Inter-est in the marriage of Miss Ruth McGarity, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. McGarity, and Homer Frank Summerour, which was solemnized Sunday morning at 10 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, The living room was decorated with floor baskets holding white chrysanthemums and ferns to form an improvised altar before which the ceremony was performed. Miss McGarity, sister of the bride, and Miss Margaret Summerour, sister of the groom, were attendants.

The bride, a striking brunette, wore a handsome navy blue tulle gown with blue accessories. The groom, a handsome young man, wore a tuxedo with a white shirt and a large circle of friends. The bride and groom were joined at the altar by Rev. L. B. Sauls, of Dunwoody, who read the vows. The bride is an attractive young woman and has enjoyed wide popularity both in Marietta and Atlanta, where she has a large circle of friends.

Mr. Summerour is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Summerour, and holds a position with the Atlantic Steel Company. Mr. and Mrs. Summerour are residing with the bride's parents.

Attending the wedding from Atlanta were Mr. and Mrs. Feltton Groover, Mrs. and Mrs. Herbert Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Springer, Fred Springer Jr., Dan Springer, Mrs. Will Trotter and Miss Cora Groover.

Miss Marie Shaw To Be Complimented.

Miss Marie Shaw, November bride-elect, continues to be honored at a round of pre-nuptial parties. Saturday, November 2, at the home of Mrs. Wallace Heron to Francis Harrison at the First Christian church. The ceremony was performed by Dr. C. R. Sauter in the presence of the immediate families and a few close friends of the bride and groom.

The bride's tulle gown was enhanced by her wedding gown of huntress green wool crepe, with hat and accessories of black. She wore a shoulder bouquet of yellow roses showered with valley lilies. Mr. and Mrs. Harrison are residing at 685 Brookline street, S. W.

On November 12 the bride-elect will be entertained at a bridal shower by the Beta Phi Alpha chapter at the home of Miss Lucile Smith, of Atlanta, on Wednesday evening, November 13. Mrs. Wallace Owen gives a bridge-supper at her home on Peachtree road.

Mrs. Erbe Honored At Party Series.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hardwick were hosts at dinner last evening at their home on Montclair drive honoring Mrs. Nell Sims Erbe, of New York, who is the fete guest of Mrs. Frances Ellis McKenzie. The decorative motif featured a color combination of yellow and white. Glads, yellow and white chrysanthemums centered the dinner table.

Mrs. Edgar Upton and her sister, Countess Bernard de Sieyes, of Paris, France, entertained at luncheon yesterday at the Piedmont Driving Club in compliment to Mrs. Erbe. Mr. and Mrs. Harold Rogers will give a cocktail party Sunday afternoon at their home in Ansley park, and Saturday evening Mr. and Mrs. Harold Erbesole will entertain at a buffet supper honoring this attractive visitor.

Recent Hostesses.

Mesdames A. W. Leathers, R. C. Terrell, Claud W. T. Cluskey were hostesses to Georgia division L. A. to O. R. C. recently at the home of Mrs. Leathers. Autumn colors were used in the decorations and the contests were appropriately suggestive of the season.

Mrs. E. H. Hudson was selected as the best "story teller." Others present were Mesdames Charles J. Foster, G. Gill, D. V. Adams, R. Atter, Ora Reeves, J. M. Browning, J. G. Thatch, P. A. Boykin, C. E. Zachary, E. B. Starke, D. E. Boswell and D. M. Griffin.

Miss Carmichael To Be Entertained.

Miss Marjorie Carmichael, popular debutante daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Homer Carmichael, continues to be honored at a series of parties. Next Friday Misses Clara Mitchell McConnell and Aileen Timmons will be co-hostesses at an elaborate buffet luncheon at the home of the former on Fairview road in her honor. One hundred guests have been invited and assisting in entertaining will be a group of the younger set, and Mrs. William Timmons and Mrs. Lucius McConnell, mothers of the hostesses.

Miss Carmichael will share honors with Misses Elizabeth Spaulding and Virginia Merry and Mary Hurt at the tea to be given on November 27 by Mrs. John H. Boman Jr. at her home on Peachtree road.

Mrs. Hammett Entertains.

Mrs. M. H. Hammett entertained the Neighborhood Circle at her home on Atlanta avenue with a party last Tuesday evening. The house was appropriately decorated, games were enjoyed, the lovely prizes awarded. Refreshments were served, and many guests attended with their families.

Rhoden—Pace.

AUGUSTA, Ga., Nov. 7.—Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Havins announce the marriage of their niece, Miss Mamie Rhoden, to Henry Graves Pace, of Atlanta, the ceremony having been performed November 3 in Atlanta, the Rev. P. J. McLean officiating. The bride is the daughter of Senator and Mrs. James Henry Rhoden and is well known in south Georgia. Captain Schartle is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Schartle, of Atlanta, and is the retiring company commander of the local CCC camp.

Following the ceremony the couple left for Fort Bragg, N. C., where Captain Schartle will be stationed. The bridesmaids were Mrs. R. F. Connell, sister of the bride; Captain and Mrs. John H. Price, Captain and Mrs. Allen W. McComb, and Lieutenant Bascom S. Jones.

Gaskins—Schartle.

NASHVILLE, Ga., Nov. 14.—Miss Lettie Mae Gaskins and Captain Schartle were married October 7 at the Methodist parsonage, Rev. L. E. Williams officiating. The bride is the daughter of Senator and Mrs. James Henry Rhoden and is well known in south Georgia. Captain Schartle is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Schartle, of Atlanta, and is the retiring company commander of the local CCC camp.

A Skin Bleach That Also Removes Skin Blemishes

With increasing years, one's skin becomes staid, discolored and wrinkled, and loses its freshness, due to sun, wind, air and dirt from without, and constant chemical changes from within, developing a coarser texture, large pores, blackheads, pimples, freckles and other surface spots. The only way these heavy-mantled ladies can be satisfactorily overcome, is with a basic skin treatment, such as Golden Peacock Bleach Creme. Golden Peacock Bleach Creme is not a "cover-up" cosmetic, but a basic, penetrating, skin treatment (the formula of one of the most able Cosmetic Chemists in the United States) that actually removes that coarse, scrubby skin, and begins where nature leaves off to form a new skin foundation; finer, softer, clearer, lighter and free of blackheads, spots and pimples due to outward causes—and it does it quickly. Use Golden Peacock Bleach Creme to get the texture of your skin right before applying cosmetic, then you will have a fresh looking complexion, requiring fewer cosmetics. Golden Peacock Bleach Creme is in such demand by ladies in all wa's of life that it may be had wherever cosmetics are sold, in 25c and 50c jars. Golden Peacock, Inc., Paris, Tenn.—(adv.)

Things That Make Women More Beautiful

(Posed by Glenda Farrell)

Some Beauty Answers To Some Very Annoying Questions

By MIGNON.

So many questions have come in of late that I am going to answer them by numbers.

No. 1. A woman past 40 asks for a good throat astringent cream to try to discourage those distressing lines that gather around the mouth and under the chin. There is one of exquisite texture that does its work very well. You cleanse the skin of the throat with a soft cream—any kind of cleansing cream—remove with tissues and apply this astringent cream and let it remain on overnight. It is a trifle expensive, but worth your money.

No. 2. The request comes for something to remedy "puffy eyes and flabby muscles." There is just that kind of a product made by a reliable manufacturer and it comes in a bottle with a black top. It has a delicious fragrance which is not of a perfume. I could not describe it to you, but it is decidedly pleasant. You pat it with the cushions of your fingers, very gently, round the eyes, and using the backs of your fingers pat it in under your chin. Allow it to dry and then use a good tissue cream. I prefer leaving it on over night with a very little cream on it after it is dry.

No. 3. I am asked for inexpensive bath salts with a very expensive fragrance. I should say I do know one and I have yet to find anyone who does not like it.

No. 4. One woman writes me that she prefers oil to a cream to use around her eyes and on her eyelids. There is a new eye tissue oil which seems to be just what she is talking about. It is a thin oil, but a very rich one, and soaks into the skin nicely. The bottle is small and you only a little bit of it as it is very rich and oily.

Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Moore and family visited Mr. and Mrs. J. Moore at Cartersville recently.

Mrs. C. T. Cadora has returned from the Georgia Baptist hospital where she underwent an operation.

Mr. and Mrs. Blalock To Honor Visitors.

An interesting event of Saturday will be the cocktail party at which Mr. and Mrs. Welborn Blalock will be hosts at 11:30 o'clock at the Piedmont Driving Club. The affair will honor a group of bankers and their wives, who will stop in the city en route to the American Bankers' convention to be held at New Orleans.

The guests include Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Hanes, Mr. and Mrs. R. N. Hanes and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Stockton, all of Winston-Salem, N. C.

Miss Laura Smith Is Honor Guest

A charming compliment to Miss Laura Payne Smith, whose marriage to Thomas M. Clarke will be socially prominent event of the near future, was the luncheon given yesterday by Mrs. Victor Smith at her home on Piedmont avenue.

Mrs. Smith was assisted in entertaining by Mesdames Charles J. Hopkins, W. G. Goodrich, and Alex Smith Jr. The house was decorated with autumn flowers, and the artistically appointed table was centered with a silver bowl holding vari-colored garden flowers, and was overlaid with a lace cloth. Hand-painted wedding bells marked the guests' places.

Invited to meet the honor guest were Miss Betty Ann Wright, of Rome; Misses Emily Smith, Carroll Hopkins, Elizabeth Hopkins, Harriet Grant, Betsy Weyman, and Mrs. Frank Player.

Miss McGuire Is Honored.

Of interest is the marriage of Miss Mildred McGuire and Thomas Dewey Garvin, which will take place in November. Many lovely parties have been planned for the popular pair.

Miss Hortense Brown entertained Miss McGuire at a surprise party at her home on Candler street Monday evening, the guests including members of the Capitol Avenue Baptist Church Y. W. A.

The house was decorated with fall flowers and Mrs. J. M. Brown assisted her daughter in entertaining. Top score was won by Miss Claudine Blackmon, and guests included Misses McGuire, Marian Smith, Madea Ellis, Ethel Mae McMichael, June Scott, Claudine Blackmon, Shirley Steel, Louise Maghee, Eleanor Rafter, Martha Fowler, Mary Lou Steel, Grace West, Mesdames Essie Stephens, Georgia Smith and Sessie Parkman.

Other parties planned for the attractive bride-elect include a party to be given by Mrs. C. V. Brownlee and Miss Grace West on November 2, at the Biltmore Hotel, and a luncheon in November for Miss McGuire. Mrs. Margaret Donehue will compliment her at a party to be given in the near future.

Alexander Sprunt Jr. Will Speak Here.

Members of Atlanta Bird Club will entertain at a banquet December 14 at which Alexander Sprunt Jr., of Charleston, S. C., will be among the distinguished speakers. Nelson Spratt Jr., vice president of the club, is in charge of the program.

Georgia bird lovers, naturalists and prominent ornithologists, are expected to attend the banquet. Invitation has been extended to members of the Atlanta Bird Club, not only, but to members of other bird clubs in the state, to members of the Appalachian Trail Club and others particularly interested in the conservation and study of Georgia birds and wild life.

Members of a special committee on arrangements for the dinner are Ray C. Worrell, Club, and E. B. Johns, F. E. Godfrey, L. A. Brickman, Lewis Gordon and Arthur Tufts. Miss Berna Jarrard is president of the club.

ALABAMA NEAR DEATH BROTHER IS ARRESTED

HUNTSVILLE, Ala., Nov. 7.—(AP) Frank Long, 33, farmer near here, was in a critical condition in a hospital here today as a result of what officials believe to be an outgrowth of a long-standing dispute in which his brother, Dan Long, was slain here several weeks ago.

Claude Green, brother-in-law of Dan Long, was held in county jail on a charge of assault with intent to murder sworn out by the state officials, pending further investigation of the case.

Long was found in a roadside ditch, his skull fractured in several places. It appeared his head had been beaten by a rock, or some other rough instrument.

SLIGHT INCREASE SEEN IN RETAIL FOOD PRICES

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—(AP)—A slight increase in retail food prices during the two weeks ended October 22 was reported today by the labor department.

Prices advanced to 80.5 per cent of their 1923-25 average from 79.9 per cent the previous two weeks. They still were considerably below the corresponding weeks of 1930, when the index was 97.8.

Meats were among the few items which dropped during the two weeks ended October 22, their index declining from 101.3 to 100.6.

Charlie Preston Injures Knee and May Miss Auburn Game

There will be quite a lot of football played way down yonder in New Orleans on Saturday afternoon when those Bulldogs from Georgia go after the Tulane eleven.

There always is a lot of football played in those games. One would almost think the boys didn't care for one another. They put a lot of dash and paprika into it all the way.

And usually there is some dazzling feature in the game or some football player who distinguishes himself beyond expectations.

The records show they began that way. Harry Talbot, of Tulane, picked up a blocked kick to score a touchdown and tie Georgia in the first game between the two teams. That was in 1919.

Georgia's national championship challenge of 1927 saw the Tulane team defeated handily and the Georgians had enough left in 1928 to win.

Tulane was undefeated all the 1929 season. The Georgia game of that year was a game. Man, it was a battle. Saw it played at Columbus. Bill Banker's running beat Georgia that day. But 17 off-side penalties had a little something to do with the result. No game ever saw better sophomore ends than that one. Georgia had Vernon Smith and Jerry Dalrymple was coming along for Tulane. Tulane won, 21 to 15, and it was a slam-bang battle all the way. The sort that leaves one limp.

Neither team was defeated by a Dixie team when they met in 1930. Georgia had won from Yale and N. Y. U. and Tulane had lost to Northwestern. Again the unexpected happened. A sophomore named Don Zimmerman got going for Tulane and Georgia couldn't stop him. He was a nervous kid that day. Fainted after he scored the first touchdown so great was his nerve tension. Tulane won 25 to 0.

That 1931 game was a game. It packed the stadium at Athens. It was a larger crowd even than the one which saw Georgia beat Yale at Athens in 1929. At mid-November both teams were undefeated and untied. The winner was to get the Rose Bowl bid. Georgia had beat Yale and N. Y. U. and was going strong. The famous sophomores of 1929 were seniors.

This time Tulane had Vernon (Lefty) Haynes, who played enough football to win a 20-to-7 victory for Tulane. A pass attack did it. Haynes couldn't miss them that day.

Don Zimmerman and Cy Grant were the stars of the 1932 game which Tulane won, 34 to 25. It was a grand scoring game for both teams.

The next year saw Georgia end the string of defeats by beating Tulane, 26 to 13, in a great offensive game. These two teams always put on a scoring show.

Last year Tulane led, 7 to 0, until the final two minutes of play. Maurice Green passed to Henry Wagon for a touchdown and John Bond missed the point. Georgia was about to score again when the whistle ended the game.

The game this year finds both teams with an offense. It should be a steamy session down there Saturday afternoon. And if that tornado, which is roving around down there, does strike,

Eastern Unbeaten List
To Be Cut to Two Teams.

By Gus Dorais.

Head Football Coach, University of Detroit.

(Copyright, 1935, by North American Newspaper Alliance, Inc.)
DETROIT, Nov. 7.—This section still has four unbeaten teams, but after Saturday's skirmishes, I think the list will be cut down to possibly two. A couple of the unbeaten teams tangle when Minnesota and Iowa settle their annual contest at Iowa City.
This will be a real ball game, although I believe the result will find Minnesota still unbeaten.

Notre Dame, after last week's tough struggle with Ohio State, will have a hard time coming up for a strong Northwestern team, but my opinion is that the Irish are going to be equal to the task, so I cast a Notre Dame vote.

A BUZZ-SAW.
Marquette, the other unbeaten team, will run into a buzz-saw when it faces Michigan State at East Lansing. This game brings together two of the best teams in this section and should be a honey of a battle. I'm inclined to think Michigan State will push Marquette out of the select circle.

In the Big Ten, Purdue meets Wisconsin. This always has been a keen contest; but, on the records, Purdue should win.

Ohio State goes to Chicago to take on the University of Chicago. Last week's game against Notre Dame took a lot out of State, but I think it has plenty left to bat down the Marionettes.

FAVORS MICHIGAN.
The surprise team of the conference —Michigan—journies to Urbana to meet Illinois. Ever since its first game, Michigan has come along by leaps and bounds, winning four games in succession. I'm picking Michigan.

Indiana is playing Maryland, and the Hoosiers should win as they please. In another interconference game, Detroit takes on Bucknell, and, on the records, appears to have a slight advantage.

In the Big Six, the game of greatest interest finds Nebraska facing an up-and-coming Kansas team. On comparative scores this looks pretty even, but I'll cast a vote for Nebraska.

Iowa State and Kansas State will make the fifth battle. The tie is slightly toward Kansas State. In the other game, I'll take Oklahoma over Missouri, but wouldn't be surprised either way.

FORDHAM, GAELS PLAY SATURDAY

By Andy Kerr.

Head Football Coach, Colgate University.

(Copyright, 1935, by North American Newspaper Alliance, Inc.)

HAMILTON, N. Y., Nov. 7.—The second Saturday in November in the east presents a football program which has few interconferential contests, but offers a number of games between well-matched rivals in this territory.

The big interconferential game is between St. Mary's and Fordham.
On the basis of its manpower, St.
Mary's must be rated the favorite.

Columbia and Syracuse present two evenly matched teams. I expect to see Columbia show an improved game over its engagement with Cornell. I am inclined to favor the chances of an undefeated Syracuse eleven.

A Princeton team which has been consistent this season seems to have struck its full power against Navy.
If it is in full stride it should not experience too much difficulty in defeating Harvard.

The Pennsylvania-Navy struggle should be an interesting one. Penn should win by a comparatively small margin.

Pittsburgh was somewhat surprised at the strength of Fordham last week.
The Army will be able to afford no such surprise. Pittsburgh will be ready for the Cadets and should win by a reasonable margin.

Holy Cross will have its hands full with Carnegie Tech. I am inclined to favor Holy Cross' chances.

Dartmouth will find in William and Mary an opponent that will keep hustling all the time, but the big Green team should win.

Yale will have an opportunity to use some of its reserves Saturday against Brown and give some of the hard-worked regulars a rest.

Douglas Meets Sylvester Today

DOUGLAS, Ga., Nov. 7.—Coach Surrey's Douglas High School Pirates, after losing a hard-fought game to the strong Vidalia High eleven, will face a rugged bunch of Sylvester
High gridders on the local field today.
In last week's game the Pirates were minus the services of Speedy Vickers, flashy halfback and a constant threat to opposing teams. It is thought he will be available for action in a part of this week's game.

The locals close their present season with the remaining games at home. After Sylvester comes Jesup and Tifton.

Georgia-Auburn and Tech-Georgia Games Are Assured Sellouts; Extra Seats Added.

By Jack Troy.

ATHENS, Nov. 7.—All those wishing to sit past the 25-yard line at the Georgia-Auburn and Tech-Georgia games may do so, of course.
But if it comes to a matter of choice and the patrons had rather be ensconced comfortably around the 50-yard line at both games, the word is to get down and get down quickly.

All was peace and quiet. It was just such a day, what with a steady rain falling outside, to sit around the fire and swap yarns. Everything was suited to weaving tales, however spotty the resultant fabric.

It did not last, however. Charles E. Martin, the astute business manager of the University of Georgia, Athletic Director H. J. Stogeman and Coaches Knight, Bennett, Smith, Baskin, Shiver and Broadnax gazed upon the scene in alarm.

"The Georgia-Auburn game at Columbus is just about a sell-out," Mr. Martin announced. "Tickets are going like hot puppies at a coaches' and writers' dinner. Pretty soon tickets may not be obtained at any price."

This announcement coincides with the situation in Atlanta, where arrangements already have been made at Georgia Tech to add extra seats for the Tech-Georgia game.

BOTH SELL-OUTS.
Both games will be complete sell-outs. A word to the wise fan will

It now appears that Tech will enjoy its best patronage since 1928 and that Georgia will have one of its best seasons since 1929. It is the first time in many years that a Tech-Georgia game has created such a demand for tickets.

supporters are looking at things this season."

Jackets Listless In Final Workout

Alex Is Gloomy As Injuries Hurt Team's Chances Against Tigers Saturday.

By Ralph McGill.

Georgia Tech's school colors were changed yesterday afternoon from gold and white to indigo.

The change is a temporary one. But with the Auburn game coming up Saturday the outlook at the Tech Flats is very, very blue.

The last scrimmage was completed yesterday. It found the Jacket-flatter than a Johnny cake. I am not sure how flat a Johnny cake really is, but it is supposed to be the tops in flatness.

Not once all week have the Jackets been able to halt the Auburn plays.
They didn't yesterday. The Gray Devils did a lot of gaining.

PHYSICAL UNFITNESS.
In addition to the general flat condition of the team, there is the added handicap of physical unfitness. This especially applies to the guards. And center.

John Wilcox is out. That is, he is out of the game. He was out to the Thursday practice and running fairly well despite his bad knee. But he will not play.

Mit Fitzsimons, who has developed into all-Southeastern material, has a very bad leg, and Fulton Brittain also has an injured leg.

Charlie Preston, the center, who was unable to play in the Vanderbilt game because of an infected foot, hurt his knee yesterday and his real condition will not be known until today.

All of which tends to make Auburn even more of a favorite than before.

ALEX PESSIMISTIC.
"We are not in very good shape," said Coach W. A. Alexander. "We played a magnificent game against Vanderbilt last week and the boys have been rather flat all week. We have looked bad in every practice and it appears this is going to be our week to be a little stale. I hope not, but it looks a little bad."

John Pierpont Morgan, end, will play, but he isn't in the best of shape either. He received a cut over one of his eyes in the Vanderbilt game which necessitated several stitches. He hasn't practiced all week but will be available.

Auburn generally is believed to

PETRELS MEET EMORY-HENRY; SEEK THIRD WIN

Oglethorpe Ends Rough Work; Leave for Scene of Game Today.

Eager to win their third straight game, the Stormy Petrels of Oglethorpe University will leave today for their game with the strong Emory and Henry eleven. The game is to be played at Big Stone Gap, Va.

After losing three hard-fought games in a row to start the season, the small squad of flying gridders came back with an injury riddled but spirited club and took two in a row. Winning over Erskine 3 to 0 and a 12-to-7 victory over the Alabama State Teachers eleven.

Winning over the Moccasins of Chattanooga, 22 to 0, the Virginians will be given the edge in Saturday's game. They possess a large line and fast backfield and use a modified Notre Dame system.

The Petrels ended a hard week of practice yesterday in the mud, all injured men reporting for the session. The squad is in good condition and can be expected to give a good account of itself.

Those making the trip are Captain McNamara, Freeman, McGandy, ends, Owens, Evans, McGehee and Thompson, tackles, Pickard, Adams, Horton, Neil and Walters, guards, McCullough, Copeland and Pizano, centers, Borman, Wade and Puryear, quarterbacks, Leslie, Carson, Sullivan, Faulkner and Brown, halfback, Clyburn and Farmer, fullbacks, Coaches Patrick and Tolve, Trainer Rowell, Manager Wallace and his assistant.

SMITHIES MEET ETOWAH TEAM; DECATUR PLAYS

Russell Meets Fulton This Afternoon—Boys' High in Macon.

By Roy White.

Tech High, Decatur High and Russell High will share the spotlight in today's prep football features. Tech High plays Etowah High, of Etowah, Tenn., at 8 o'clock tonight at Ponce de Leon park, while Decatur meets LaGrange High at 8 o'clock at Decatur in a homecoming game.

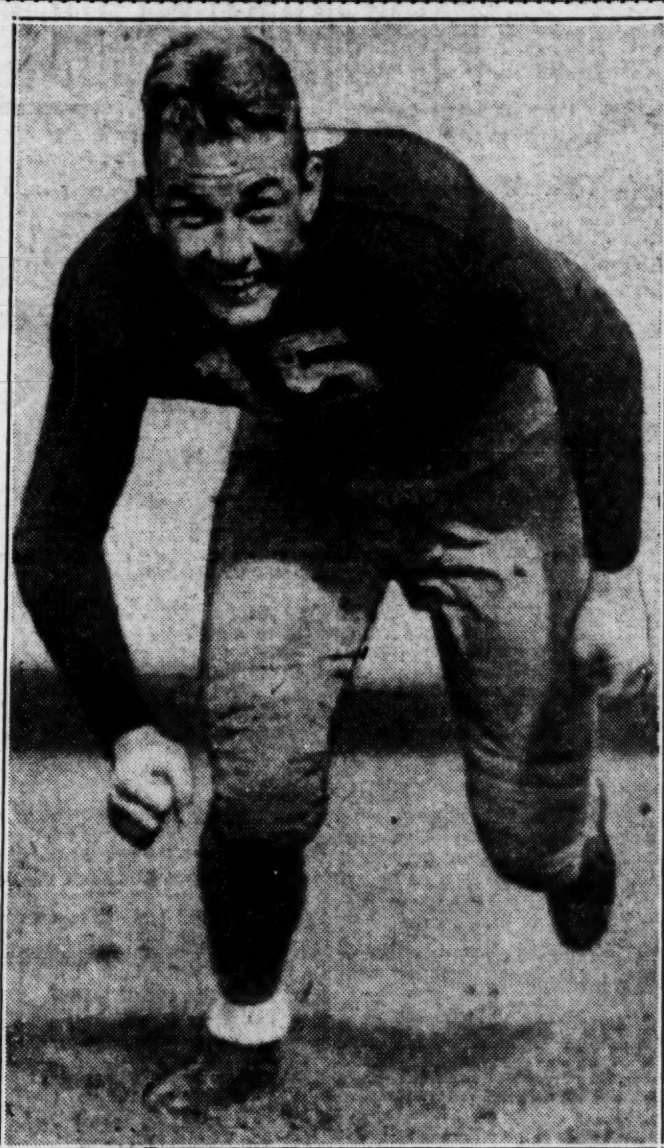

Russell High, wending its way toward the top of the North Georgia Interscholastic conference, plays Fulton at 3 o'clock this afternoon at East Point.

Other games for today include Commercial and Spalding County High tonight at Griffin, Gainesville and Marietta this afternoon at Gainesville and Boys' High and Lanier High tonight at Macon.

Tech High, on the upgrade, will have one of its toughest games of the year against the big Etowah eleven. The Smithies hold two consecutive victories over the mountain eleven, but they are no cinch to make it three straight tonight.

TOUGH CREW. Etowah has played some of the strongest high schools in Tennessee. Continued on Fourth Sports Page.

Lost for Two Games

Harry Harman, Atlanta boy who was injured in the Alabama game and did not see action against Florida, yesterday injured his shoulder all over again in a wet-weather scrimmage at Athens and will miss both the Tulane and L. L. S. U. FAVORED OVER MAROONS IN BIG BATTLE

Twelve of Thirteen Teams Engage in Conference Competition Saturday.

By Kenneth Gregory.

Associated Press Sports Writer. Intersectional warfare over, the football machines of the Southeastern Conference settled down today for the stretch struggle in the championship chase.

Louisiana and Mississippi, alone unconquered in conference play, face major obstacles in their drive for titular honors, while seven teams were ready to step into the picture should the leaders slip.

One of the dizziest seasons in the Southeastern since it was formed in 1932 finds the championship race muddled, but some semblance of order may be established with the results of Saturday's conflicts.

Mississippi State, conqueror of Alabama and Army, provides the big test for Louisiana at Baton Rouge, with Mississippi playing Tennessee at Memphis. These games feature a slate that sends 12 of the 13 members into conference competition.

REAL THREAT. The "experts" give Louisiana and Mississippi the edge over their opponents, but Mississippi State's startling triumph against an unbeaten and untied Army eleven last week ranked the Maroons of Major Ralph Sasse as a distinct threat to Bernie Moore's hopes. Tennessee, knocked about considerably, will prove troublesome but Mississippi should win this one.

Another pair of battles that have the guessers puzzled are the Georgia-Tulane duel at New Orleans and the Georgia Tech-Auburn tussle at Atlanta. The other conference frays bring together Kentucky and Florida at Lexington and Vanderbilt and Sewanee at Nashville.

Alabama, forging back as a title contender after an early loss to Mississippi State, was the only Southeastern eleven catching an outsider, The Crimson Tide uncertainly Clemson, of the Southern Conference, at Tuscaloosa.

ONE TO GO. If Mississippi hurdles Tennessee only one team remains between the Delta gridders and a perfect conference record. That is its neighbor, Mississippi State. Louisiana has strong opponents waiting—Georgia and Tulane.

Eight Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Association games and three Dixie conference skirmishes round out the week-end program.

Tennessee Tech and Union University clash at Cookeville, Tenn., and Mississippi College plays Louisiana.

Emory Frosh Netmen In Semi-Final Round

Weather permitting, Emory's freshman tennis tournament is scheduled to enter the semi-final round today with final slated to be played Monday.

Marvin Woodall, seeded No. 1, meets Steve Maxwell, No. 3. Bobby Ausley, No. 2, takes on the winner of the Jim Byrd-Bunny Nix match. The latter match was called Wednesday due to darkness with Byrd taking the first set, 7-5, and the second set tied at 5-5.

The tournament is under the supervision of Frank Morrison, freshman tennis coach.

South Georgia Tigers To Play Wesleyan

TIFTON, Ga., Nov. 7.—Inspired by an impressive 38-6 victory over the Abraham Baldwin College Rams of Tifton here Friday night, the South Georgia State College Tigers went through several stiff workouts during their practice sessions this week in preparation for their game Saturday in Athens, Tenn., with the powerful Tennessee Wesleyan eleven.

The Tigers displayed a different brand of football in their game last week and after trying three games and losing two, one by a 7-6 score, finally registered in the win column and by a convincing margin. The Tigers accounted for 20 first downs to their opponents' three.

U. S. Baseball Team Loses to Japanese, 5-4

TOKYO, Nov. 7.—(AP)—Under a shower of volcanic ash, a barnstorming American amateur baseball team opened its Japanese tour today by losing, 5 to 4, to Meiji University. The volcanic ash, from a violent eruption of Mount Asama, caused weird light effects that were almost as hard on the players as the ashes that got into their eyes. The shower was so thick spectators covered their heads with handkerchiefs and newspapers.

GRIDIRON TRIO.

Vic Hanson, Syracuse coach, has a trio of substitutes for the famous gridiron combination of "punt, pass and prayer." They're Noland, Reckmack and Albanese. Jim Nolan, an exceptional punter, has the knack of hitting the coffin corner. Ray Reckmack has completed 60 per cent of his passes this season while Vannie Albanese can be relied on to crack the line or turn the ends when a few yards are needed.

BOYS MEET AGAIN.

When Captain Al Barabas, of Columbia, looks across the scrimmage line at Harry Novotny, 190-pound Syracuse center, Saturday, he'll probably recall another occasion when they faced each other. It was in 1929 when Barabas, of Dickinson High, of Jersey City, turned back Emerson High of Union City, N. J., the team on which Novotny was playing his first year at center. Dickinson won, 26-0.

CONTINUES RACE.

Hirsch Jacobs, who has topped the list of winning trainers of horses for the last two years, will continue his race with Buddy Stoffer, conditioner of the A. G. Vanderbilt horse, for 1935 honors at the Bowie, Md., meeting which opens November 15. Jacobs is ahead with 105 winners, but Stoffer is close to the 100 mark.

Calling tuberculosis the "killer of the Indian race," a health official finds this disease 10 times as prevalent among North American Indians as among white persons.

Tropical fruits appear to have a higher sugar content on the whole than temperate zone fruits have, judging by analyses of a number of fruits.

Forest trees and forest products in the United States are affected by diseases to an extent that the annual loss is around $410,000,000.

AMERICA SPEAKS

On the Liquor Problem

THE NATIONAL WEEKLY POLL OF PUBLIC OPINION

Has Repeal Improved The Liquor Situation?

On January 16, 1920, the Demon Rum was chased into his hole and the cover nailed down when the Secretary of State proclaimed the Eighteenth Amendment in effect.

During the years of Prohibition, Wet Forces extended their attack from occasional pot-shots to a veritable barrage on the dry stronghold. "Restore personal liberty," and "Put people back to work," were theme-songs of the drive. On December 5, 1933, America stepped up to the bar for its first legal drink in nearly fourteen years.

Now, with almost two years of legal brew under its belt, how does America feel about alcoholic beverages? Do the majority of voters think conditions now are better, worse, or about the same as they were during the last few years of Prohibition? What is the feeling among young people, Democrats, Republicans, people on relief? How are conditions in states where the state operates liquor stores as compared with those in states where other plans are in force? Is the United States in for a revival of total abstinence pledges and Carry Nation hatchets... or is Senator Capper of Kansas wrong when he predicts that Prohibition is fast becoming a national issue again?

These questions will be discussed next Sunday in The Constitution when it reports the result of a nation-wide poll conducted by the American Institute of Public Opinion. The returns in this poll will show accurately and impartially exactly how America feels about present methods of handling the liquor problem.

KY. PROHIBITION REPEAL IS BOOM TO INDUSTRY

Huge Construction Projects Planned To Meet Needs in Distilling.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 7.—(AP)—Repeal of Kentucky's 16-year-old prohibition amendment was the "go ahead" signal today for the state's $100,000,000 distilling industry. New construction in immediate prospect was estimated to cost millions of dollars.

Approximately one-third of the nation's supply of liquor stored in Kentucky warehouses became a beverage over night. The state legislature classified it as a medicine when it repealed the Rask-Gullion enforcement act last year and substituted regulation.

Advocates of repeal, who were winning the state wide vote by an 8-to-5 margin despite dry majorities in most rural areas, pointed to the employment of 30,000 persons in the liquor industry as their biggest argument.

Today distillers announced the expansion plans they held in abeyance until after the election would go forward.

The Seagram Distilling Company planned construction of a $1,500,000 plant near here on a 40-acre tract bought recently.

To Increase Production. At Frankfort and Lexington, many distilleries planned to increase production and add buildings and machinery.

A. L. Hines, president of the Kentucky Distillers Association, announced tonight the company will build three large warehouses once and increase operations from 180 to 240 barrels a day.

The old Taylor Distillery, 11 miles east of here, which with its sunken gardens was one of central Kentucky's show places before the advent of prohibition, National Distillers announced will be placed in commission soon.

The same firm is ready to reconstruct the Old Crow plant near by. Construction costs are expected to run upward of $500,000.

The George T. Stagg Company at Frankfort, a subsidiary of the Schenley, has completed surveys looking toward a substantial expansion. The distillery was ready to double its 350-barrel a day output.

The old Kennebec Distilling Company, which is constructing a plant near Frankfort, plans to start production December 1. Leslie W. Perkins, secretary-treasurer, announced tonight.

The Schenley company planned to build an additional warehouse for its Pepper plant at Lexington.

$200,000 Plant. The Cave Springs Distillery Corporation, St. Louis, planned to build a $200,000 plant on Licking pike in Campbell county, with an 80-barrel-a-day capacity. The company has bought 34 acres and contracted for water. Before prohibition it had a plant at Bardonia, Ky.

Thomas Medley, head of the Daviess County Distilling Company, Owensboro, said he intends to build a new 25,000-barrel warehouse and bottling plant. Brown-Forman Company, Louisville, had plans for a new still-house. Labrot & Graham, Woodford county, proceeded with construction of a new bottling house. Bonnie Brothers, Louisville, expected to increase production from 80 to 230 barrels a day.

PRESIDENT INITIATES SONS INTO MASONRY

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—(AP)—President Roosevelt tonight participated in the ancient ritual of the Free Masons and assisted in raising his sons, James and Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., to "the sublime degree of Master Mason," the highest in the "blue lodge."

It was the first time in the history of the order that a chief executive of the United States has taken actual part in inducting his sons into the fraternity. In 1933, when he was president-elect, he assisted in raising his son, Elliott.

The ceremonies were held in the grand lodge room at Masonic temple and 1,500 members of the craft were in attendance, all that the hall would hold.

The President, who is a member of Holland lodge, of New York city, was himself made an honorary member of Architect lodge, No. 519, with which his three sons are now affiliated.

Among the prominent members of the order in attendance were Mayor Fiorella H. La Guardia, of New York; Supreme Court Justice Frederick Peck and Frederick Kernochan, presiding judge of the general sessions court.

President Roosevelt has long been identified with the Masonic fraternity and has attained the 32nd degree in the Scottish Rite. He also is a Shriner.

HARRISON PREDICTS EASY WIN FOR F. D. R.

PASCAGOULA, Miss., Nov. 7.—(UPI)—President Roosevelt will be renominated by acclamation and will "sweep the country like a forest fire" in the next election, Senator Pat Harrison told a crowd at the county fair today.

"Republicans are quoted as rejoicing over Tuesday's elections. The republicans have been out of power so long and have received so little encouragement within the last three years that it doesn't take much to make them rejoice."

"What are they rejoicing about? Philadelphia, which has been republican without interruption for more than five decades, elects a republican mayor by an eyelash, when their normal republican strength has been 500,000. The democrats lose control of the assembly in New York and New Jersey, states that have been republican 95 per cent of the time since the War Between the States."

NIAGARA RAILROAD MAY STOP OPERATION

ALBANY, N. Y., Nov. 7.—(AP)—The Niagara Gorge Railroad Corporation, from whose cars countless thousands of honeymooners and tourists have viewed the wonders of the Niagara cataracts and rapids, petitioned the public service commission today for approval of its plans to dissolve the company and scrap its equipment.

Operating "in the red" for the past five years, largely because of the competition of the automobile, the "rubberneck" road sees no prospect of revenues in excess of debts. Its tracks were recently covered at one spot by 5,000 tons of stone and slate that fell from a cliff along the gorge.

GARNER AND PARTY ARRIVE AT MANILA

MANILA, P. I., Friday, Nov. 8.—(UPI)—Vice President John Nance Garner and Speaker of the House Charles McNary reached Manila today. They were greeted by several thousand cheering Filipinos.

Garner reviewed the 31st infantry, assembled to meet his party, here to participate in the inauguration of the Philippine's commonwealth, November 15.

AT ATLANTA'S THEATERS

"Mutiny on the Bounty" Is Real Saga of Sea

One remembers "Mutiny on the Bounty" as a vivid experience—a vivid experience of stark and cruelly by crunity, of fierce, volcanic hatred, of tropical islands and simple friendship. You don't sit in a soft seat at the Grand theater and see "Mutiny on the Bounty," Charles Laughton and Franchot Tone enact a photoplay; no, you are transported and live that historic cruise two centuries ago, feeling the passions of the mutineers and admiring the despicable bravery of the brutal captain.

Almost everyone is familiar with the story of this fateful voyage which revolutionized the relations of officers to men in the world over. Taken from the unexcelled account by Northcott and Hall, the film embraces both "Mutiny on the Bounty" and "Men Against the Sea," the latter detailing the impossible return of Captain Bligh and his few men to civilization and their subsequent, futile search for the mutineers.

Every detail of this amazing picture is handled with such superb artistry—the type which excels by concealing itself—that the silver shadows become real. The constantly shifting background keeps interest at highest pitch. The photography is such that every nuance of a situation, whether it be the fogging to death of a sailor or a flower in the dark hair of a beautiful girl, is clearly conveyed.

Laughton's performance is a high point in his marvelous career. It is doubtful if anyone else could approach the portrayal of the strange Bligh. In him you see the man's bitter, stupid and soul-breaking obedience to the laws of his day—unquestioning and unswerving but fair in his mechanical bravery. From Gable you understand how the marrowful traditions were overthrown, how the tussle and the clash of the two worlds established their own homes against almost insurmountable odds in a paradise.

Also screening a "Silly Symphony," a turn from the recent moraling trend and all the better for it.

'Farmer Takes a Wife' On Paramount Screen

Filmgoers who have been looking for the superlative romance, those who seek drama and those who prefer adventure will find all these elements combined in the simple, human, down-to-earth story of Fox Film's "The Farmer Takes a Wife," which comes to the Paramount theater today.

The picture stars Janet Gaynor in one of the most absorbing and tender love stories it has been her privilege to play; it exhibits for the first time the superior talents of the new romantic sensation, Henry Fonda, and it tells a magnificent tale in a style that will leave you troubled and strangely happy at its close.

"The Farmer Takes a Wife" deals with the turbulent glamour and vitality of the Erie canal scene in the early 1850's and draws its dramatic conflict from the love of a boy fresh from the farmlands for a girl who was attached to the water life.

Fonda, who originated the role he plays in the New York stage production, brings a shy wistfulness, a courage and a sensitivity to his portrayal which have been missing from the screen for too long. He is an admirable acting companion for the superlatively fine Miss Gaynor.

The picture abounds in beautifully-acted character bits. Those most worthy of mention are the parts played by Slim Summerville, Andy Devine, Roger Imhof, Jane Withers and Margaret Hamilton.

'Diamond Jim' at Fox Starts Four-Day Run

Characters of the gay "nineties," the most colorful and romantic period in the history of the United States, come to life on the screen of the Fox theater starting today, where "Diamond Jim" starring Edward Arnold, opens to a four-day engagement. It will show Friday, Saturday, Sunday, Tuesday and a Thursday matinee.

The city has reserved the theater for Monday and Wednesday, therefore there will be no showing on those two days.

The story of "Diamond Jim" deals with the life of James Buchanan Brady, the man who made the gay nineties gay, and is in reality the portrait of an era.

Arnold, who heads the cast, actually resembles the superlative man—the man who wore $2,000,000 worth of jewels—who asked Lillian Russell to marry him and offered her a million-dollar dowry—who made and lost fortunes while selling and manufacturing railroad equipment. Supporting him are Jean Arthur, Binnie Barnes, as Lillian Russell—Cesar Romero, Hugh O'Connell, George Sidney, Eric Blore, Robert McWade and many other noted players, including a heavy of chorus girls with "hour-glass figures."

Months were spent in making this lavish production, which is complete and accurate in detail from noted bicycles which Brady rode, to the interior of the theater where Miss Russell made her debut in "La Cigale."

Amateurs To Contest At the Capitol Tonight

There is no waiting to know who the winners are in the amateur contests held each Friday night at the Capitol theater. The audience by its applause, picks the winners and soon as the contest is over. The prizes are presented at the same time.

At 9 o'clock tonight the Capitol will offer another of these enjoyable amateur contests from the stage. The following adult amateurs will compete: E. M. Dyer, D. J. Baynes, C. J. Jones, J. R. Vaughn, Mildred Brown and Jackie Cameron. This list is subject to change without notice.

The three prizes offered each week are $10, $5 and a one month's pass to the Capitol.

The contest is presented in addition to the regular stage and screen program. The current screen attraction is "Lady Tubbs" with Alice Brady in the title role. The present stage show is, "Heads Up," which offers eight acts of variety and features an 18-piece stage band.

Starting Sunday the Capitol will offer Paramount's pictureization of "Hop Along Cassidy" with William Boyd. The new feature is Clifford's "Manhattan Revue" and, as a special added attraction, Enrico Leide conducting a special overture featuring Victor Herbert melodies.

Georgia Keeps 'Top Hat' Through Sunday Shows

"Top Hat" starring Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers, now playing an extended run at the Georgia theater, will be held over through Sunday, starting Monday, Armistice Day, the Georgia will present Charles Farrell, June Martell, Andy Devine and a host of All-American football players of past years in the exciting football story, "Fighting Youth."

"Fighting Youth" covers the communistic activities of present-day colleges, showing how the Department of Justice agents combat the radical students on America's most popular game.

The exciting climax of the story comes in the heat of an important football game, with 75,000 cheering fans cheering vainly on a dispirited team.

Included in the cast are Jim Thorpe, the Carlisle Indian; Larry "Moon" Mullins, of Notre Dame; Red Christy, of California, and Dale Van Sickie, of the University of Florida.

'A Feather in Her Hat' New Rialto Feature

Pauline Lord gives one of the finest individual performances of the year in her role as the proprietor of the little bookshop in the east end of London in "A Feather in Her Hat," Columbia production which comes to the Rialto theater today for a week's engagement.

Directed by Alfred Santell from a novel by I. A. R. Wylie, the picture has been given an exceptional cast throughout. In addition to Miss Lord

MANY NATIONS TO LOSE BY LEAGUE SANCTIONS

Italy Owes Considerable Monies to Those Who Will End Clearing Pacts.

GENEVA, Nov. 7.—(AP)—Suspension of clearing agreements between League of Nations states and Italy November 18 will result in considerable losses to a number of countries, a subcommittee on sanctions was told today.

France informed the League the balance of commercial relations with Italy has been destroyed. Prohibition of the import into France of all Italian products will make impossible settlement of outstanding payments, which now amount to 150,000,000 francs (approximately $10,000,000), Paris reported.

Cuba announced her commercial balance with Italy was unfavorable. Lithuania asserted she is entitled to obtain compensation from Italy in the form of adequate quotas so as to restore the balance of trade, stating the present margin between respective exports is approximately 1,500,000 lire. (The lire is valued at about 8.1 cents.)

Poland (a non-member of the League) announcing she does not propose to participate in sanctions, told the League she reserves the freedom to act in any future contingency upon "its interests" and "international obligations and principles which have always guided its foreign policy shall dictate."

League circles heartily indorsed the proposal of Secretary of State Hull the United States adopt a more elastic neutrality statute.

Whalers in the southern seas used to get 60 to 70 barrels of oil from a whale; now the industry manages to extract almost twice that much.

Midnight Ramble at 81 For White Fans Tonight

White Atlanta showgoers who, through the years, have grown to expect nothing but hot shows at the special midnight rambles at Bailey's 81 theater will not be disappointed when Irvin C. Miller's swift-paced "Harlem Express" makes its bow Friday night at 11:45 o'clock.

Pressing large attendance at the white rambles is the heavy sale of advance seat tickets, as reported by Harold Spears, general manager of the Bailey Amusement Company.

The feature of Miller's new revival is the introduction to Atlanta of Harlem's new dance craze, the Halle Solasie stomp. The dancing side of the show is also emphasized by some rapid-fire tapping by the Three Hot Flashes, an adagio rumba, Harlem-style, by the team Marcus and Marguerite, and eight prancing chorines doing a "trucken" number.

Shelton Brooks, noted composer of "Lady Tubbs" and "Some of These Days" occupies a prominent spot on the show bill with Billy Mills as a screamingly funny blackface comic team.

Police Rescue Women From Marauding Rat

A new bandit spread terror yesterday morning in a residence at 1279 Morningside drive, N. E., occupied by Mr. and Mrs. M. Fagelson. According to police reports, he was believed to have been after a piece of cheese. Like many bandits, he met a violent end at the hands of the police.

"Help, come quick," Mrs. Fagelson pleaded over the phone to officers. "He's got the cook and me cornered."

Patrolmen W. J. Stephens and M. B. Stroud rushed to the scene. The officers found a huge field rat in the kitchen. He was slain with a mop handle.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—(P)—Stock market traders trimmed off their profits today after Wednesday's active bull thrust.

Most of the list closed mildly lower, with a scattering of higher-priced issues, but a point or a little more, but final prices did not lack up-lift.

A few issues advanced against the trend, especially in the rubber, oil and the aircraft and rubber issues, and a few specialties.

The Associated Press average dipped 2 points of a point at 53.7. Activity was brisk, especially at the opening of trading when the firm was firm to strong and the tape lagged 2 to 3 minutes behind transactions.

There was a turnover of 2,500,310 shares, well below the 3,000,000 mark established in the previous session.

The early buying was replaced by a quiet, but not a little, of the list and activity picked up.

Cotton Rises.

Grains, like stocks, behaved indifferently, but cotton advanced to 60 cents a bale.

More activity in Chicago wheat futures were 3-8 of a cent to 1-3-8 cents a bushel lower and corn was down 1-4 to 3-4 of a cent.

Firmness in power company loans was the principal feature of an otherwise rather uneven bond market.

United States government obligations gave a little ground.

Only improvement when it became known that Germany was prepared to embargo shipment of war materials to Italy.

News of the decision by the federal district court in Baltimore declaring against the legality of the public utility holding company act, coming in the final few minutes of trading, was too late to do more than stiffen a few of the utility stocks.

Dealings on the west coast after the New York close were reported to have produced higher prices for utilities than the final New York close.

The final feature of the day was a quarter earnings report of Niagara Hudson Power Company, showing profit of 7 cents a common share, compared with 4 cents in the same period of 1934, was also encouraging to followers of the group.

Mail order shares consistently bucked the market current as Montgomery Ward reported a net profit of $850,877.47, the best month's business in its history.

Loews Up.

The declaration of an extra dividend of 50 cents on Loews stock in addition to the regular dividend of $2.00, which was paid on Oct. 31, 2 points for a while and the close was better than a point higher at 40 3/4.

Most of the oils moved narrowly despite evidence of further price firming in petroleum products, as gasoline advanced 1/16 of a cent to 22 1/2 cents in New York and New England by leading companies.

Some of the stocks which advanced major fractions to nearly 2 points against the trend included Southern Railway at 61 3/4, Montgomery Ward at 35 3/4, American Waterworks at 19 3/4, United Carbon at 7 3/4, National Cash Register at 21 3/4, Philip Morris at 42 1/4, Goodyear at 23 1/4, Boeing at 37 3/4 and Union Pacific at 97.

Western Union was up more than 4 points during the day, on renewed talk of dividend possibilities early next year, and ended more than 3 points at 65 1/2. The Volatile Coca-Cola advanced 13 points to 293 on relatively light volume.

Among the so-called pivotal shares which lost fractions to around 2 were United States Steel at 46 3/4, American Smelting at 58 1/4, National Biscuit at 24 1/4, United Fruit at 70 3/4, Bethlehem at 42 3/4, Du Pont at 140 1/2, Cerro de Pasco at 50, Woolworth at 55 1/4 and Auburn at 86.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 7.—(AP)—

Heavy exports, threats of colder weather and the usual pre-urban short covering imparted a firm tone to the cotton market today and futures gained from 6 to 8 points in comparatively active dealings.

Futures were higher from the start of trading as professional purchases and buying by the trade more than absorbed light offerings in the market.

Options sold off a little from the highs in the final hour as December closed at 11.10, May at 10.99 and July at 10.93, but the market maintained a steady undertone throughout.

While the trade had little to base their belief on the original estimate, it is general that the government crop estimate tomorrow on the yield as of November 1, would show a small decline from the 1934 figure. Shippers said the demand for cotton was not as strong as last year, but they said the market was not as heavy as a month ago.

The basis remained high in the interior and active demand was noted for cotton as fast as it is ginned.

Liverpool reported a steady market there, with some professional buying on reports from the United States that colder weather was cutting down the yield in the northern section of the belt.

Ballistic activity in stocks and outside markets has yet to be reflected in cotton.

Port receipts, 3,613,939; last week, 2,490,883; light exports, 72,401; last week, 189,946; season, 1,602,054; last season, 1,462,307; Port stocks, 2,874,717; Stocks on shipboard at New Orleans, 1,000,000; at Houston, 200,157; last year, 85,714; Spot sales at southern markets were 48,218; last year, 23,646.

N. Y. COTTON GAINS ON TRADE BUYING

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—(AP)—Cotton futures advanced 6 to 8 points today on trade buying and covering prompted by steadiness in Liverpool and reports of rains in the south. December contracts held up to 11.15 and January to 11.10, with the general market ending steady at net gains of 7 to 12 points.

Southern hedging was readily absorbed by the demand from trade and foreign buyers.

A private crop report placed the indicated yield at 11,227,000 bales against 11,240,000 last month. The average of seven private end-of-October reports points to a crop of 11,512,000 compared with 11,574,000 a month ago. The government crop report is scheduled for publication tomorrow.

Earnings.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—Coca-Cola International Corporation reports for the September quarter net profit of $75,779, compared with $60,360 for the same month last year. The company's earnings for the first nine months of 1935 are $2,718,012 against $2,591,114 a year ago.

THE TARZAN TWINS No. 59

As the mad elephant rose upright, Tarzan clung desperately to that rough, mottled skin, but Gudah shook violently and Tarzan slid off. Gudah whirled. His trunk struck Tarzan's shoulder. The ape-man fell. Then, the beast raised a giant foot to crush his victim to dust!

Badu, the cannibal warrior, watching from the distant jungle, saw Gudah, the Terrible, raise his foot. He saw that foot descend, and he heard the elephant's wild cry of triumph. That was enough for Badu. He concluded that the unquenchable Gudah had claimed another.

Badu knew well the accustomed climax of the drama which had been played so often in the Vale of Death, and he need not see it again. He was more anxious to hear the joyous news to Galla Galla, his chief; for Badu expected a suitable reward for his entrapment of Tarzan.

With glowing delight, Badu coursed homeward through the forest. His hastening footsteps beat out a throbbing rhythm on the jungle trail, and in time with his footsteps he mumbled: "Tarzan is dead; Gudah killed him! Tarzan is dead; Gudah killed him!"

Screen Star Wins Bet, Cameramen Fail To Get Picture.

NEWARK, N. J., Nov. 7.—(UP)—Katharine Hepburn, screen star, flew in from the west today and won a bet with a Hollywood friend that she would not be photographed en route, but she almost was killed dodging cameramen here.

The TWA plane on which she arrived discharged all passengers except Miss Hepburn in front of the ticket office, then quickly taxied across the field to the TWA service hangar.

Cameramen and reporters in automobiles sped after the plane.

When it stopped, with its two propellers set in the leading edge of the wings still turning, the movie star jumped out. She ran forward under the left wing, straight toward the whirling propeller. She apparently saw her danger, stopped short, turned and fled into the hangar, where she jumped into an automobile and sped away.

Menjous Expecting Stork.

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 7.—(AP)—Veree Teasdale, actress wife of Adolph Menjou, is expecting to become a mother in the spring, intimate friends said today.

JAPAN MILITARY POLICE JAIL CHINESE TEACHERS

PEIPING, Friday, Nov. 8.—(UP) Japanese military police, who this week assumed general activity in Peiping, have arrested 10 Chinese political and educational leaders on suspicion of sympathy with the communist movement and fostering the activity of anti-Japanese societies.

Chinese informed the United Press today.

Scores of university professors and other intellectuals are fleeing southward to Nanking and Shanghai. The mass flights followed orders that all the intellectuals should report to military headquarters for questioning.

MASONS TO BE GUESTS OF PIEDMONT LODGE

Piedmont Lodge No. 477, F. & A. M., will be host at 8 o'clock tonight in the Scottish Rite hall of the Masonic temple to members of the other lodges of the city. A tribute will be paid to charter members, emeritus members and past masters of the lodge.

Abit Nix, grand master of Georgia Masons, will be the principal speaker. Music will be given by the Ysarah Chanters. The entertainment program was in charge of Bartis Goodman, Ed-ward Anchors, J. E. Nelson and Edwin Fincher. All qualified Masons have been invited by E. J. Sunkes, Piedmont W. M.
